SIX VICTIMS ARE KILLED AT RAIL CROSSINGS

Mother Dies with N. U. Students.

A November drizzle befogged Cook county last night. In the murky that blotted out red signals and obscured locomotive headlights six lives were snuffed out at two railroad grade crossings.
Miss Lillian E. Lowe, 19 years old, and her sister, Maude, 17 years old, students at Northwestern university in Evanston, were killed at Seeger road and the Chicago and North Western tracks in Des Plaines.
Their mother, Mrs. Maude Lowe, 43 years old, a prominent Elgin club woman, and Conrad Haan, 23 years old, decorator in an Elgin department store, were fatally injured. Haan died shortly after the accident in St. Francis hospital, Evanston. Mrs. Lowe died early this morning at the Sherman hospital in Elgin.
James Elliott, 65 years old, owner and driver of the car, was seriously injured. He is a boarder in the Lowe home at 112 Seneca street, Elgin.

Two Killed in Bellwood.
At a grade crossing of the Chicago Great Western railroad at Mannheim road in Bellwood, Mrs. Ruth Edwards, 28 years old, Hannibal, Mo., and her brother, Herman Haught, 30 years old, also of Hannibal, were killed. Another brother, Earl Haught, private of the U. S. army stationed at Omaha, was critically injured. The Legionnaire express train of the Great Western to St. Paul, ground their sedan to scrap.
To these six deaths were added ten more of motorists killed in collisions on slippery streets or pedestrians run down by skidding cars in the Chicago area. Fifteen of the fatalities occurred in Cook county and increased the county motor toll for the year to 845.

Political Foes Riot; 3 Slain in Mexico City

(Copyright: 1929 by The New York Times.)
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10.—At least three persons were killed and 12 seriously injured in a clash here today between partisans of the two leading presidential candidates on one of the principal thoroughfares, the Avenue Juarez.
The riot occurred a few minutes after 11 o'clock this morning, when a procession of 20,000 supporters of Jose Vasconcelos were marching in orderly manner toward the national palace. They had passed the headquarters of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, his rival, and were facing one of his branch committee rooms, when cross-traffic forced them to halt.
From the roof of the building insulting remarks are reported to have been hurled. These were followed by a shower of bricks and stones, first fired into the air and then into the crowd. About 500 shots were fired at together. After this a general pistol battle followed in which three demonstrators were killed and probably more than twelve wounded, including one woman and one child.
The marchers were able to proceed again after a half hour. They had planned to march past the presidential palace, but, according to unconfirmed reports, troops under Gen. Eulogio Garrion, commander of the Mexico City garrison, barred their way.
Some of the crowd broke into Señor Ortiz Rubio's branch campaign office and set fire to it. The blaze was extinguished and troops went on guard to keep out the thousands of curiosity seekers who tried to enter later.

16, 3 WOMEN, LEAP SECOND APART FROM TRANSPORT AIRPLANE

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Uncle Sam's navy aviators no longer can claim the world's numerical parachute jumping championship. The navy's proud record for the greatest number of persons to leap from one airplane during a flight was smashed at Roosevelt field today—and by civilians.
It was the second attempt to break the navy record, established when 12 flyers jumped from one plane at Washington, D. C., last week. On Saturday 13 persons, including one woman, went up in a big Sikorsky transport plane at Roosevelt field, but the best they could do was to tie the record. After twelve, including the woman, had jumped, the thirteenth got cold feet and refused to take off.
Today, however, thirteen persons, three of them women, went up in the same plane, equipped with two Pratt and Whitney 525 horse power motors and piloted by Capt. Harold McMann, and all sixteen jumped, each within a second's time of the one preceding. They all landed safely and thus the new record was established. The thrilling spectacle was part of the annual celebration of the Aviation post of the American Legion.

Former Judge Held for Girl Knife Murder

Austin, Tex., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Brady, prominent Texas lawyer, and a former justice of the State Court of Civil Appeals, today was charged with the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, a stenographer for the State Supreme court commission of appeals, who was fatally stabbed last night on the sidewalk in front of her home.
Miss Highsmith, who was 29, died of knife wounds. Officers who arrested Brady advanced the theory that jealousy was the motive.
Brady, 59, and married, formerly was assistant state attorney general. He long has been prominent in Democratic party campaigns and was an ardent supporter of Alfred E. Smith for President in the last election.
In a jail cell here, Brady declined to make any statement. Unofficially, however, he was credited with making the statement that he did "not remember what had occurred." He retained counsel and his examining trial has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.
Miss Highsmith was knifed upon her return from an automobile ride with Frank Graham Jr. of Austin with whom she had been keeping company. As she alighted from the car, Graham told officers, she was attacked and stabbed three times. One wound penetrated her heart and two others were close to the heart.
Screams Arouse Neighbors.
Miss Highsmith's screams aroused persons in the boarding house where she resided, but when they reached her she was unconscious. She died in a hospital an hour after she was taken there.
F. R. McNaughton, one of those who went to the young woman's aid, reported that he disarmed Brady and said that in doing so Brady was slightly cut on the hand.
Graham, Miss Highsmith's escort, who had remained in the car, said he witnessed the fatal attack, but did not have time to go to her assistance. Miss Highsmith had been employed for several years as stenographer by the court. She held that position when Brady was a member of that court. It was there, it was stated, that Brady met her and began paying her attentions, which according to her friends, she resented and sought to avoid.

adium will return to the Elks' club for luncheon. The vice presidential salute of 17 runs will be fired in Grant park at 10:30 a. m. The Vice President's return trip to Washington will start at 1 p. m.

Gov. Emmerson will go from the Soldiers' field celebration to a luncheon in his honor at the Stevens hotel, and from there to the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital at Hines, near Maywood. There he will lay the cornerstone for the new $1,500,000 unit of that institution that will provide an additional 1,000 beds for disabled veterans. Attorney General Carlstrom will be the speaker.

Senator Glenn will speak at noon today at the Veterans club of Chicago on the topic, "Is the American Congress Preserving Our National Ideals?"

Woman Jurist to Talk.

Judge Florence E. Allen of the Supreme court of Ohio will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting at the Chicago Temple at noon, under the auspices of the Chicago Church federation and other organizations. Rabbi Felix A. Levy will give the invocation.

Nineteen Kiwanis clubs will hold their annual services from 10:15 a. m. at the Doughboy monument in Lincoln park at Belmont avenue and Lake Shore drive.

Evanston will celebrate Armistice day with a "peace parade" in which more than 500 members of various patriotic organizations will participate, among them the local American Legion post, the Veterans of the Spanish War, the War Veterans of the Republic, and the G. A. R. Two German cannon captured during the war will be presented to the city by the world war veterans. Mayor Charles H. Bartlett will receive the cannon on behalf of the city. The parade will begin at 11 a. m. at Main street and Ridge boulevard.

War veterans of La Grange will fire a salute at 11 a. m. at the intersection of 6th avenue and Burlington street.

Unveiled Memorial Tablet.

United States Senator Charles S. Deneen will be among the speakers at 11 o'clock this morning in the rotunda of the Federal building, when a memorial tablet will be unveiled by Van Buren post, No. 461, of the American Legion. Frank F. Koske, commander of the post, will be in charge.

Allen A. Stockdale, who spent much time on the battlefield, will give a brief address, "When Memory Speaks," at the Chicago Historical Society observance at 11 o'clock today.

Grant hospital, 605 North Dearborn, will dedicate a bronze war memorial tablet at 10 a. m. to the Grant hospital nurses who served in the world war.

Maj. Gen. Parker Speaks.

Maj. Gen. Frank L. Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area, was the speaker at the 11 o'clock service at St. Chrysostom's church on North Dearborn parkway yesterday, at which the Medal-Tribune post of the American Legion was present. The service was conducted before the altar, which is a memorial to Henry Blair Keep, captain of a 4th division company, and who was killed in action.

The Rev. Charles P. Anderson, bishop of Chicago, addressed world war veterans of this and allied nations at St. James cathedral, 665 Rush street, at the same hour.

Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick, speaking at the First Congregational church at Morgan park yesterday afternoon at the Morgan Park Military academy program, lauded the policy of this country in writing off part of the war debts and in keeping free of European entanglements.

Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis was the speaker at the dedication of a cenotaph in Water tower court on Michigan boulevard at Harold A. Taylor. A parade from the headquarters of Harold A. Taylor post of the Legion at 744 North Clark street preceded the exercises.

Land Grant Universities

Open Meeting Tomorrow

The forty-third annual convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities will open tomorrow at the Stevens hotel and continue to Thursday. Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, will preside at Thursday's session. Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde will deliver an address. More than sixty agricultural and engineering schools will be represented by delegates.

LEGION DEMANDS CONGRESS BILL AIDING SICK VETS

Insists December Session Provide Funds.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Charging that thousands of sick and disabled war veterans are uncared for due to a lack of government hospital funds, spokesmen for the American Legion declared today that its battle for hospital relief legislation would be reopened immediately after the regular session of congress begins in December.

A bill appropriating $11,450,000 to provide 3,578 new beds in fourteen districts was introduced in the last congress but died in the lower house without coming to a vote. Undeterred, the Legion expects to renew its fight vigorously this winter.

More than 5,000 ex-service men, many of them with mental diseases and tuberculosis, are vainly knocking at the doors of the hospitals today, to be turned away because there is no room, according to John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the Legion's national legislative committee.

Three Years Going Into Effect.

"Even should the defeated bill be enacted it would be inadequate, he said, pointing out further that it requires three years before a congressional appropriation materializes into hospital beds.

"Meanwhile, where are these men?" he demanded. "Some of them are languishing in jails; others are jammed into already overcrowded state and county asylums; and most of them are dying by degrees without any care whatever. The situation is a national disgrace.

"We have assurances from our friends in the house of representatives that hospital relief will be made one of the first issues at the new session of congress and we are going to throw the full strength of our organization and affiliated groups behind the right kind of a bill. At the Louisville convention of the Legion in October the hospital program was strongly endorsed and nationwide sentiment is being aroused to support it."

Cause Membership Drive.

Taylor called attention to copies of a letter recently broadcast to all Legion post commanders by National Commander O. L. Rodenhamer which proposes "proper hospitalization" as the slogan for a new membership drive.

"We have 5,543 disabled comrades who are being deprived of proper care because of a lack of facilities within the veterans' bureau organization," the letter stated. "A hospital bill looking to the proper care of these men must be passed immediately. Congress meets on Dec. 6. It is the Legion's responsibility to pass the proper kind of hospital bill. With a small membership we will have little influence. With a larger membership our influence will be great."

Although repeated charges have been made in congress that the veterans' bureau is wasteful and overloaded with high salaried bureaucrats, the Legion has no quarrel with the bureau at present. In fact, the bill killed last spring, which the Legion endorsed, was sponsored by Director Frank T. Hines and in the main was parallel to the veterans' own bill.

Policy of False Economy.

As viewed by the ex-service men's groups, the trouble all lies in a policy of false economy on the part of leaders in congress.

"It is well known in Washington," stated the report of the legislative committee at Louisville, "that economy in government expenditures was weighed against the afflictions of the veterans, and economy won in the preliminary skirmish during the short session. But this shortsighted, unjust attitude of the leaders will not prevail. With the force of the united Legion fighting for those who cannot fight for themselves, adequate hospital building programs will be provided so that those who sacrificed

FRANCE HONORS ITS WAR DEAD ON EVE OF ARMISTICE DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 10.—France began the celebration of Armistice day early this morning. The first official gesture was the traditional mass in St. Louis chapel at the Invalides, which is housed in the same building with Napoleon's and Marshal Foch's tombs and so many other vestiges of France's military glory.

This service led the way to solemn church ceremonies and dedications of monuments to the dead everywhere in France. Gen. Pershing and Norman Armour, American charge d'affaires, attended a service at the American cathedral this morning.

Britain Remembers Dead.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Whitehall today was thronged with persons coming to the cenotaph to lay wreaths for Great Britain's war dead. There were special programs in all English churches.

The signal for two minutes' silence at 11 o'clock tomorrow will be a cannon shot. Special services will be held at Westminster abbey and St. Paul's cathedral. In the evening the "Festival of the Empire and Remembrance" at Albert hall will be addressed by the prince of Wales. At the conclusion of the service wreaths will be laid. The flowers are made of 1,069,825 petals, one for each Britisher killed in the war.

their health for their country in time of war may be adequately cared for by our government in time of peace."

An analysis of the battle last spring, however, indicates that there existed an apparently honest difference of opinion on one fundamental question—a question that probably will be thrashed out at the coming session.

One Hitch in Program.

That question is: "Shall the government undertake as a duty the task of furnishing medical treatment and care for all ailing ex-service men, regardless of whether their ailment is proved to have been a direct result of war service?" The Legion and its friends say, "Yes." Influential leaders in congress say, "No."

The trail of this basic dispute may be traced through all the years of legislative action since the war. Years ago congress recognized the difficulty in determining whether service actually caused the great prevalence of tuberculosis and mental diseases among world war veterans and wrote the famous section 202-10 into the veterans' act, which, according to the Legion interpretation, requires hospitalization for veterans without regard to their origin or proof of service connection. The result was a rush to the hospitals of unproved cases, and a shutout of many proved cases.

It is estimated that 41 per cent of the 26,000 cases now in government hospitals classify under section 202-10. Actual War Victims Crowded Out.

Meanwhile the beds have been filled up and the Legion claims more than 5,000 veterans entitled to admission are excluded because of the space shortage.

The Legion bill, providing for 3,578 new beds, was originally introduced on Jan. 5 by Rep. Robert Luos (Rep., Mass.), chairman of the hospital subcommittee of the house committee on world war veterans legislation. Lengthy hearings were held and the bill was finally reported favorably with only four of the twenty-one members of the committee opposing it. Legion lobbyists exerted every effort to bring the bill up for a vote in the house but failed.

The bill would have provided six new hospitals and additional facilities for eight. The locations, number of new beds and estimated costs were as follows:

Location	Number of Beds	Estimated Cost
Bedford, Mass.	150	$ 300,000
New York, N. Y.	1,000	1,000,000
New York, C. D.	500	1,000,000

ARMISTICE DAY LEGION MESSAGE PLEDGES SERVICE

Commander Recalls Valor of World War Days.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—[AP.]—O. L. Rodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion, today issued an Armistice day message to the people of America, as follows:

"Memories of the gallant service performed by the men of America on the battlefields of France come flooding back today with an ever increasing vividness. We turn back the pages of the past and live again with those never to be forgotten moments of victory which brought unstrained joy and gladness to the world.

"The American Legion, composed of the men who helped make possible that great achievement of 11 years ago, is today engaged in the task of preserving and perpetuating in peace these same high ideals of service which inspired our men in 1917 and 1918 to stake their lives for their country."

Memories Are Revived.

"Armistice day has a peculiar significance to the men of the legion, because it not only revives cherished memories, but it serves to impress upon all veterans their duty of continued service to the country."

"Conceived out of the common interests of those who served, the spirit of the American Legion today is the spirit which spurred our men to noble deeds on the field of battle. The Legion is justifying its existence with a program of good citizenship, with untiring devotion to the career of our disabled comrades and dependent children of veterans, advancing the principles of Americanism, and giving unselfish service towards the betterment of our city, state, and nation."

Dedicate Best Efforts.

"Our celebration of this Armistice day, however, would be to no avail if we do not take advantage of the splendid opportunity it affords to pledge anew our allegiance to flag and country, and to reflect upon the duties and obligations which we, as citizens, owe to the nation. The lives which were sacrificed out in the blaze of the world war will not have been sacrificed in vain if we dedicate our best efforts to the uplift of the nation and to the preservation of these glorious principles of freedom and democracy for which our comrades died."

BIG IOWA STILL IN SAILED.

ROB NOTABLES OF $54,000 AT U. OF I. PARTY

Bandit Dies After Battle with Police in Home.

The Chicago police were watching last night for two of the four masked bandits who late Saturday night in one of the most spectacular holdups on record invaded the mansion of Henry H. Harris in Champaign during a dancing party and robbed the host and sixty men and women guests of $54,000 in money and jewels.

C. W. Katchman of Mattson, one of the bandits who was shot in the battle with policemen that took place during the robbery, died of his wounds early this morning in the Burnham hospital at Champaign. Before his death he told the police that the gang agreed before the holdup that they would meet at Clark and Ohio streets in Chicago if they became separated.

Seize Two Suspects Here.

The Champaign authorities notified the Chicago detective bureau and detectives were detailed to watch that corner. They had partial descriptions of the two holdup men.

Early this morning Sergt. Edward Waller and his squad took into custody two suspects at Illinois and Clark streets. They are Charles Lore, 405 West 73rd street, and Raymond Mentzer, 807 Emerald avenue, both recently released from robbery sentences at Pontiac reformatory according to the police. Mentzer had a pistol.

Mr. Harris is the wealthy president of the General Alloys company of Boston, Mass. His home in Champaign, Ill., native city, is one of the show places of central Illinois.

One hundred guests, friends of the host, from all over the country, including a number of army officers who had attended the Illinois-Army football game in the afternoon, had been invited to the dancing party. Twenty-six of them were the weekend house guests of Mr. Harris and his wife. The holdup men invaded the home just as the festivities were getting started. About sixty of the guests had arrived.

Gain Entrance by Ruse.

The bandits gained entrance to the Harris home in dramatic manner. At the entry they were confronted by a shrewd doorman. One of the bandits, "We're just playing a joke," he told the servant. But he seized a revolver into the colored man's side at the same time, and he and his companions pushed their way into the mansion.

Among those at the party were a number of Chicagoans. These included James G. Alexander, vice president of the Central Trust company, and Mrs. Alexander; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Parsons, Edward Dougherty, assistant chief engineer of Mr. Harris' company, John Crawford, Sidney Rosenblum, M. A. Graham, and Mrs. and Mrs. F. H. Harrison, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. John V. Clinin of Glenview arrived just after the holdup had occurred and the wounded bandit and Harold Smith of Charleston, Ill., another of the robbers, had been captured.

ST. LOUIS GANG ROBS 2 WEALTHY COUPLES OF $58,000 IN GEMS

St. Louis, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Jewelry valued at $58,800 and $1,000 in cash was obtained by four bandits who held up Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Johnson of St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Byers of Pittsburgh early today as the two couples were returning in an automobile from the fashionable Bridle Spur Country club in St. Louis county. Two of the robbers were masked.

Johnson is vice president of the International Shoe company and a director of the Johnson-Stephens & Shinkle Shoe company of St. Louis. Byers is president of the A. M. Byers Pipe company of Pittsburgh.

The bandits crowded the Johnson car to the side of the road and three of the men entered the car, driving it to an unfrequented spot, where the robbery took place. A fourth bandit trailed the Johnson car in another automobile in which the gang later escaped.

Mrs. Johnson saved a $80,000 necklace by snatching it from her neck and dropping it down the front of her dress.

Two U. S. Boats Bombed; Suspect Boats Runners

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 11.—(Monday)—Two government boats, a small motor boat and a 30-foot cruiser, were bombed in Wolf river harbor early today. Federal agents said they suspected rum runners. No one was aboard the boats. The smaller craft was destroyed and the cruiser damaged. A cabin cruiser owned by Lawrence Merovka, government game warden, and three smaller motor boats moored nearby also were damaged.

Other Robber Captured.

Policeman Davis went up the stairs first after the bandit, gun in hand. On the third floor he and Katchman, face to face, fired at each other. Davis' bullet struck Katchman under the heart and one of several shots the bandit fired in quick succession hit the policeman in the hand.

Meanwhile Patrolman Brown had come upon the bandit Smith as the latter attempted to go to Katchman's aid. He went up behind the robber, wrested the revolver from his hand and placed handcuffs on him.

WOMAN ADMITS KILLING 1 CHILD AND BURYING 2

Cabaret Singer Charged with Murder.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—(Special)—A 35 year old cabaret singer tonight was charged with murdering two children whom she admittedly used in a blackmailing scheme. She has confessed that she caused the death of one child, but claims the second died accidentally, and has given authorities here a gruesome account of her burial of both bodies. She is suspected by officers of slaying other children who have been missing for some time.

She walked into police headquarters at Newark, N. J., early today, accompanied by her common law husband, and gave her name as Gladys Parks Baker. She referred to herself sometimes as Mrs. Parks and at other times as Mrs. Baker, but admitted that she has never been married. Twelve hours after her appearance police wrung sufficient information from her to start proceedings which resulted in her being held for the Camden county grand jury.

Extensive Search Ended.

Her surrender took place while police of virtually every town and city as far west as St. Louis were searching for her on the strength of information supplied by Camden and Gloucester county authorities. It was learned, however, that she did not flee west as reported, but hid at various places in Coney Island, Atlantic City, and Newark.

The child for whose death she accepts responsibility was Dorothy Rogers, five year old daughter of Allen N. Rogers, insurance broker of Woodbury, N. J. It was the girl's skeleton which was found near National Park on Nov. 2, she said. The other child was Dorothy's 2 year old brother, Timothy, who also had been entrusted to her care by Rogers, a widower with six children.

Claims Boy Fell Down Stairs.

Protesting that she did not kill Timothy, Mrs. Baker told a graphic story of the baby having fallen down the cellar steps two weeks after the killing of the girl last August and injuring himself fatally. The boy's body was found this morning at Absecon, N. J., near Atlantic City, by state troopers acting on information which she supplied. Both bodies had been buried in quicklime.

Authorities are convinced she killed both children. Mrs. Baker, they say, has practiced blackmail extensively for years, often using children as decoys and collecting from men by representing the youngsters as theirs.

70 POLICE OFFICIALS AT U. OF C. TODAY TO TALK NEW METHODS

The first police conference ever held at a university will open today at the University of Chicago for a two day session to discuss problems of crime recording. With the exception of Washington, every city of more than 100,000 population will be represented. Forty chiefs and commissioners, thirty other officials and a group of experts on the sociological aspects of crime will attend.

The conference was called by Prof. August Vollmer, chief of police of Berkeley, Cal., and newly appointed professor of police administration at the university, to instruct police officials in the newest methods of recording criminal statistics. The new methods were worked out by a committee of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, of which Prof. Vollmer is a former president. President Hutchins will open the conference and among the other speakers are Police Commissioner Russell of Chicago and Col. C. O. Sherill, city manager of Cincinnati.

from Atlantic City, all well known, have reported her activities to police, and have described children in her custody bearing no resemblance either to Dorothy or Timothy Rogers. On this account, she is suspected of being responsible for the disappearance of four other youngsters.

Girl Dies After Beating.

Her story of Dorothy Rogers' death was cold-blooded. She told of beating the helpless little girl for a childish offense, of leaving the youngster lying on the floor and coming back to find her dead; then of having forced the body into an old suitcase, which authorities now possess.

Suspicion in the case centered on the woman when a towel found wrapped about the girl's skeleton was traced through laundry marks to Mrs. Baker. Rogers, after viewing the remains, had insisted they were those of his missing daughter. He said he had given Dorothy and Timothy into Mrs. Baker's keeping when she told him she would give them a good home.

VOLCANO AGAIN BELCHES LAVA ON STRIKEN AREA

GAUTAMALA CITY, Nov. 10.—(AP)

The volcano Santa Maria, which last week dealt death and destruction over a wide area, was again in violent eruption today. Smoke belched from the crater in such clouds as to obscure nearby hamlets.

Loss of life was not expected to be nearly as heavy as last week when several hundred were killed, for residents have deserted the country for miles around the peak.

The town of El Palmar was again threatened, however, lava had poured into the beds of the Rivers Tambor and Numa, causing the waters to boil and to overflow the banks. It was reported that a new crater had opened.

LOOK TO HOOVER TO BREAK TARIFF BILL DEADLOCK

Leaders Expect He Will Urge Compromise.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—If any tariff bill ever reaches Hoover's handwork.

This is becoming apparent as a deadlock between the senate and house looms as a certainty.

The bill as it will be passed by the senate after being completely revised by the coalition of Democrats and radical Republicans will be in such form that the house cannot possibly accept it.

The senate is demonstrating that it will not under any circumstances approve the original house bill.

An agreement can come only through compromise, and no one but President Hoover seems to be in a position to effect a compromise.

While the President has refrained from mixing in controversies over tariff schedules, it is known that he favors a bill about mid way between the two extremes, as represented in the house bill and the prospective senate measures.

Find Some Rates Too High.

Some of the industrial rates in the house bill are too high to suit the President, while some of those in the senate will be too low. The President probably approves of some of the reductions made by the coalition, but he unquestionably disapproves of the refusal to grant increased protection to certain industries.

The President wants a bill enacted into law which will carry out the Republican campaign pledge for increased protection for agriculture and for a "limited revision of industrial rates to take care of industries shown to be in a distressed condition."

The house with its Republican majority of 100 would like a much more general revision than favored by the President, and an upward boost of duties all along the line, but will accept something short of this goal.

Farm Duty Increases.

The senate majority, as represented by the coalition of Democrats and radicals, wants a general increase in farm duties, and, having obtained this, has having blocked many proposed industrial increases, will finally accept a bill which is less onerous to industry than the measure soon to be passed in that branch of congress.

Despite the pessimistic statements of such high protectionists as Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], that the senate and house never will be able to agree upon a bill the general impression is that a compromise can be wrought about.

President Hoover, as well as the senate and house, will be forced to make concessions. The belief is that the President's contribution toward a compromise will be acceptance of a flexible tariff provision quite similar to that which has been incorporated in the senate bill by the coalition. As a condition of such acceptance, he probably will insist upon elimination of the export debenture provision of the senate bill, also a coalition proposal.

Flexible Tariff Clause.

Republicans close to the administration are inclined to think that the senate flexible provision with possibly some slight changes can be made quite acceptable to the President.

When Mr. Hoover entered the fight for retention of the flexible tariff, his opposition was directed primarily against the proposal to repeal it entirely. His argument was designed to emphasize the desirability of a system which would make possible emergency changes in the tariff between general revisions by congress.

The coalition finally abandoned its attempt to repeal the entire flexible

EVIDENCE CLEARING MOONEY IN BOMBING SENT TO CALIFORNIA

Bellaire, O., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Francis Moran, Bellaire police chief, tonight sent to Police Chief William J. Quinn of San Francisco the information he obtained from Mrs. Dora Monroe of this city implicating her dead brother, Lewis Smith, as the perpetrator of the San Francisco preparedness parade bomb outrage in 1916 in which ten persons were killed.

Mrs. Monroe's story may lead to freeing from San Quentin prison of Thomas J. Mooney, widely known radical leader, who was convicted in the bombing.

An affidavit by Mrs. Smith attested that Smith confessed to her six years ago that he was guilty of the bombing and that Mooney was innocent. The story has been corroborated by Frank O. Stevens, an inmate of the National Militia home at Dayton, O., and by her son.

Moses from the chairmanship of the Republican senatorial campaign committee.

Senator Norbeck and other insurgents refused membership in the committee and most of the insurgents who are candidates for reelection next year have asserted they will accept no financial aid from this committee. The Democrats are enjoying the troubles in the Republican party and hoping that the schism will enable them to elect Democratic senators next year in a number of states from which the insurgents hail.

The Democrats will face some serious troubles of their own in 1922, if not earlier. They have been congratulating themselves over the return of the anti-Smith Democrats to the party fold in Virginia and the signal repudiation of Bishop James Cannon Jr., who led the revolt against Al Smith in the south. They are encouraged to believe that Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Texas, and Tennessee will be back in the Democratic column in 1922.

The Democrats who peer beneath the surface, however, perceive that the Virginia state election result emphasized exactly what it is southern Democrats will not stand for: The nomination of a wet Roman Catholic for the presidency. The Democratic leaders now realize that neither a wet nor a Roman Catholic can be nominated by their party in 1922 without incurring the danger of the fate which Al Smith met in the south in 1920.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—Coast guardsmen from Brenton's Reef station late today rescued 11 persons from drowning after the power boat Evelyn of Providence grounded and capsized on Davis' Point. Those rescued, including several children, were members of a fishing party. The craft was headed shoreward when it struck a reef and foundered while efforts were made to move it.

SUMMIT-ARGO OFFICIALS FACE BOOZE INQUIRY

Officials of the villages of Summit and Argo last night were summoned by Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, for questioning about an alleged beer syndicate operating in the villages as a result of a series of raids yesterday. Detective squads commanded by Roche and Lieut. William Blaul raided three alleged speakeasies and seized 250 men found in them, but only 20 were held after the prisoners were questioned.

Mayor Elias H. Wilson, Chief of Police Andrew Bots and Edward Kirk, village clerk, who serve both villages, will be questioned at the state's attorney's office today. Lieut. Blaul said that information given by the prisoners taken in the raids indicated that the officials were aware of the existence of the alleged syndicate. Both Wilson and Bots have been involved in similar investigations in the past. Bots was indicted in 1925 in connection with the bootlegging activities of Joe Salts, and Wilson was questioned by government officials in 1927 in an investigation of booze conditions.

The places raided yesterday were the Roma Inn, 7629 63d street, owned by Tony Pucci; 7735 63d street, owned by Mrs. Eva Snyderman, and a saloon at 7505 63d street, operated by Michael Nick. The three owners were held with all their employees.

CALL FROM WIFE LURES GANGSTER INTO DEATH TRAP

Woman Unwitting Tool of Assassins.

Three telephone calls from his young wife, the unwitting tool of his assassins, early yesterday lured Joseph Piccallo, 29 years old, a bootlegger and racketeer of the Calumet district, from a poker game to his death.

Piccallo, who lived at 4218 North-west street, East Chicago, Ind., dropped with 18 bullets and shotgun slugs in his body as he left a poker party in the home of Andrew Bandura in Calumet City. He had left in response to his wife's calls urging him to go to Terre Haute to bail out a friend who was in jail there.

Mrs. Piccallo told Lieut. Robert E. Slinger of the Cook county highway police, who was investigating the killing, that some one she did not know had called her urging her to get her husband to go to Terre Haute.

Thought It Was Friend.

"Each time they called me, I called my husband," she sobbed. "I thought it was a friend who needed his help." Police of Hammond, Calumet City and East Chicago, as well as members of the county highway force, expressed the belief that Piccallo had been murdered because of some connection he had with the recent federal investigation which resulted in the indictment of 299 men and women in northern Indiana, most of them on charges of violating the Volstead law.

Some of the police said they believed Piccallo had turned government informer to win immunity for himself. The only clue obtained by the detectives investigating the killing was one of the sawed off shotguns which an assassin had thrown away in the alley after Piccallo fell dying.

Ben Strong, former sheriff of Lake county, Ind., Detective Sanders Slinger of the Hammond police force, Piccallo, Bandura, and several others, had gathered in Bandura's home for the poker game. They had played for some time when Piccallo was first called to the phone.

Piccallo was loser in the game and continued playing. About midnight the second call came.

Piccallo was angry when the third call came and he was heard to answer his wife angrily, but he stopped the game, put on his hat and coat, and said he would drive to Terre Haute.

As Piccallo stepped out of the back door waving his friends good-by they settled down to the game again. A few moments later the shots were heard.

Ran to Hide Money.

Strong, Detective Slinger, and the others in the house said they ran into the bedroom. The former sheriff said they thought it was a holdup and feared the bandits would invade the house. They ran into the bedroom, they said, to hide their money, as they had no guns.

After a few minutes they cautiously left the bedroom and went out in the back yard. There they found Piccallo's body. The shotgun charges apparently had wounded him and his assassins had fired a number of .38 caliber bullets into his head and chest as he lay on the ground.

Strong, Slinger, Bandura, and eight others, including Charles Johnson, 7700 Kingston avenue, secretary to the chief special agent of the Michigan Central railroad; Emmett Quinn, 328 East 79th street, Chicago, and Miss Ethel Evans, 19 years old, of 1211 East Marquette road, a friend of Quinn, were questioned by the police, but released.

FOREIGN CHIEF OF RUSSIA RESIGNS; IN POOR HEALTH

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—(AP)—A Telegrapher Union dispatch today from Kovno, Lithuania, said that the resignation of Georges Tchitcherine as foreign minister of the soviet union had been accepted by the political bureau of the communist party because of poor health. He will continue to take the cure at Wiesbaden.

Tchitcherine has been ill for more than a year and went to Wiesbaden for treatment last April. Reports have been frequent that he was to give up his portfolio, but they have always before met with denials at Moscow.

Portugal Pardons 86 in Exile for Political Plot

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The cabinet council today authorized the return home of 86 officers and noncommissioned officers who were banished to the Azores for their part in a plot against the present dictatorship in 1927.

GOTTLIEB GIVEN FREE HAND WITH CLIENTS' MONEY

Reveal Implicit Trust in Missing Lawyer.

Clients of Louis I. Gottlieb, 1579 North Halsted street, lawyer and mortgage broker, missing and believed to be between $200,000 and $500,000 short in his accounts, trusted Gottlieb so much they placed large sums on deposit in banks and then gave him full power to withdraw and manipulate the funds as he pleased.

This was revealed yesterday by Attorney Joseph Rolnick, representing a number of the claimants, as he prepared to go into the federal court to ask that a receiver for Gottlieb be appointed. Mr. Rolnick said a number of Gottlieb's clients' bank books had been found among Gottlieb's effects and that the funds he was permitted to use as he pleased will run into thousands.

Trusted Him Implicitly.

"Almost everybody who dealt with Gottlieb appears to have trusted him implicitly," Attorney Rolnick said. "He gave most of them nothing to show that he had control of their money. He gave them no receipts, nor did he deliver the papers he sold them. He used such funds for several years and issued the people monthly statements purporting to show what he was doing."

Seek Indictment Tuesday.

Assistant State's Attorney Benjamin Feldman announced he would take several of the alleged victims of Attorney Gottlieb before the grand jury Tuesday morning and seek indictments.

Attorneys Charles S. Dougherty and Samuel A. Hoffman, representing Gottlieb and his wife, Isabel, said they had heard nothing from Gottlieb, although they have advertised to advise him they believe his tangled finances may be straightened out and to return and face his accusers as soon as possible.

MOSES RECALLS HOW "JACKASS" FITS DRY LAW

Spending a quiet Sunday with the family of his son, Gordon Moses, at Hinsdale, Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire was reminded that his employment of the word "jackass" recently in reference to the tariff coalitionists was not his first public use of that word.

"Do you remember back in 1923 that you rescribed the Volstead act as a 'jackass statute'?" he was asked. "I certainly do," was the answer.

"And is your opinion of the act the same now?" "It is, but get me clear on this. What I said was that any statute that made buttermilk an intoxicating liquor was a jackass statute."

FIGHT STORM TO SAVE PASSENGERS ON FRENCH PLANE

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP)—For the second time within a week a seaplane on the Algiers-Marseilles route was in difficulties today and the lives of passengers were imperiled. The plane was forced down this morning on the Mediterranean 12 miles north of Minorca, Balearic islands. Vessels attempting to rescue the passengers and mail encountered a heavy sea.

Yesterday passengers of the first plane to be forced down were landed safely after having tossed on the water in their crippled plane for several hours while relief ships searched for them.

At the Le Bourget flying field today it was said that the last week had been the worst for flying in many years. The field received reports of forced landings throughout France. The Paris-London service was canceled on Friday and curtailed yesterday and today. Two Americans were slightly injured on Friday in the forced landing of an airplane on the Brussels-Paris route.

DEATH OF INJURED FROM FALL. Zeno Rodifera, 50 years old, 1136 Roscoe street, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries suffered on Oct. 22 when he fell into a coal hole on the sidewalk in front of 2816 Lincoln avenue.

SERB'S FIST HITS ITALY'S ATTACK; ROME EXCITED

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
ROME, Nov. 10.—New clouds arose over the already strained relations of Italy and Yugoslavia today when the news that Col. Cassone, air attaché of the Italian embassy, was insulted and badly injured by a Yugoslavian Nov. 7 at a ball in a Belgrade hotel, reached here tonight. According to the version received here, Col. Cassone was talking to a Spanish diplomat when a mob burst in shouting against Italy, and he was hit in the eye when he protested.

The Belgrade Version.

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
BELGRADE, Nov. 10.—Differences between Italy and Yugoslavia were settled privately here in the Palace bar, a night club, with a crushing defeat for Italy. The skirmish was provoked by Col. Cassone, air attaché of the Italian embassy, who cried that Belgrade was "a dirty city." A Belgrade native, M. Redojlovitch, retorted that if Belgrade is a dirty city, Rome is even dirtier. Col. Cassone landed an uppercut and then was floored by M. Redojlovitch. Upon protest by the Italian minister, M. Redojlovitch was sentenced to 20 days in jail.

RIORDAN SUICIDE WHILE INSANE; HIS BANK SAFE

Friends Deny Stocks Got 'J Smith's Chum.'

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Joseph A. Brown, state superintendent of banks and a staff of bank examiners completed their check of the County Trust company today, an audit undertaken on Saturday following the disclosure that James J. Riordan, president of the bank, had committed suicide on Friday. Mr. Broderick said the trust company was unusually strong.

"Our examination," he said, "confirms what I said Saturday night; namely, that the bank is not only sound, but in splendid condition and worthy of every public confidence."

Plots No Motive for Suicide.

The motive that drove Mr. Riordan, reported to be a millionaire several times over, to shoot himself through the temple while in his home, remained undisclosed.

Reports that he had overinvested in stocks permitted, as did his friends' denial of speculation, but it became clear that whatever his market ventures had been, there had been no link between them and the trust company he headed.

While the Catholic ecclesiastical authorities were issuing a dispensation lifting the church's ban on burial of suicides in consecrated ground, Dr. Charles G. Norris, chief medical examiner, officially was reporting that Mr. Riordan temporarily was insane when he shot himself. The death certificate filed by the chief medical examiner attributed the banker's death to "a gunshot wound in the brain and head, self-inflicted while he was in a condition of temporary insanity."

Big Deposits from Friends.

The bank will be opened at the regular hour tomorrow. Few withdrawals are expected in the face of the official report of the state superintendent, but wealthy friends of Mr. Riordan are ready to demonstrate their affection for him in a practical way.

It was learned that these friends expect to open the trust company's day with deposits of great sums. Some will go into accounts already established in the bank and others will open new accounts. The group, it was said, was prepared to put in a dollar for every dollar that might be withdrawn.

Smith, Raskob Visit Bank.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, William F. Raskob, William H. English, and John J. Raskob, all friends of the dead man, visited the trust company offices today. They remained only twenty minutes.

Mr. English, who was elected on Saturday night temporarily to succeed Mr. Riordan, was asked about reports that money had been put into the bank following the suicide. The reports, none of which cited any authority for their origin, were that funds had been supplied to the bank during the 20 hours in which Dr. Norris, saying he acted at the request of the family and of friends, had suppressed the suicide so that patrons might not put the bank at a disadvantage during the banking period Saturday.

No Money Put in to Cover Up.

"It is absolutely untrue," said Mr. English, "that any director, officer, or other person put any money or securities into the bank for any purpose after Mr. Riordan's death."

"So far as I know, Mr. Riordan was not involved in the stock market, but whether he was or not, I do know that he did not borrow a penny from the bank or from any director for the stock market or for any other purpose."

Mr. English said he had talked to former Gov. Smith and to Mr. Raskob on the death of their friend. He said

DEMOCRATIC CHIEF SEES NEW HOPE FOR SUCCESS OF PARTY

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 10.—[AP.]—Joseph H. Shouse, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, today issued a statement in which he declared that recent events, political and legislative, are full of promise for the Democratic party. He cited recent election returns, the "disorganization" of the Republicans, and the efforts of the Democrats in "making a respectable tariff bill" to support his statement.

"The overwhelming success of regular Democracy in Virginia was perhaps the most definite evidence of our solidarity which has yet appeared," Mr. Shouse said.

"Grave as have been our family quarrels, they are certainly matched, if not exceeded in the disorganization of the Republicans at this time."

The statement went on to say that the "stupid attempt" of Senator Bingham "to work the chief lobbyist of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association into the deliberations of the finance committee."

they were at a loss to account for the suicide.

Mr. Raskob said he knew nothing of any stock speculation by the dead banker, and added that Mr. Riordan had not borrowed from the trust company for any purpose. The state examiners also reported this.

Robert Kenny, the banker's chauffeur and the last person to see him alive, filed in the gap that hitherto had existed between 11 a. m. on Friday, when Mr. Riordan disappeared from the bank with the cashier's revolver and the time he was found dead.

Told Him to Drive Home.

The chauffeur said that his employer came out of the trust company office at 11 a. m. In accordance with instructions, he said, he drove down to the Wall street district, making several stops. Mr. Riordan finally told the chauffeur to drive to his home. Kenny said he halted the machine in 12th street at 12:45 p. m.

"Wait for me," he said his employer remarked as he started up the steps. Kenny waited through the hours until a maid came to the door and told him of the finding of Mr. Riordan's body.

WARNS U. S. TO LOWER TARIFF ON SPAIN'S PRODUCTS

(Copyright: 1929, by the New York Times.) MADRID, Nov. 10.—The Count de Los Andes, minister of economics, discussing the proposed new tariff rates of the United States in an interview today, said that, unless America makes some concessions to Spain, the Spanish will be compelled to break off trade relations with the United States.

"The United States embargo on Spanish grapes is an unjust discrimination," the minister asserted, "because American grapes have already the blight from which Spanish grapes occasionally suffer. Prohibitive duties are imposed by the United States on Spanish olives, peppers, onions, almonds, garlic, and cork. "Unless the tariff is lowered on these products of our country, we will be obliged to retaliate by creating a prohibitive tariff on American importations. This, in effect, will amount to killing trade relations between Spain and the United States."

RUSSIA ORDERS FLEEING GERMAN COLONISTS BACK

Blocks Thousands from Reaching Moscow.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 10.—The soviet government has taken hasty action to block the flight of thousands of German colonists, Lutherans, and Catholics. Disaffection among these colonists comes on the heels of the decision of 14,000 Mennonites, whose ancestors emigrated from Germany 150 years ago, to leave Russia.

Primarily the government has taken steps to prevent mass migration to Moscow, where the Germans hoped to obtain visas to leave the country.

Get Orders to Return.

Local railway offices are forbidden to sell tickets to Germans and families, caught en route, have been ordered to return to their homes. Hundreds of families have sold their last possessions to buy tickets to Moscow and the German consulate in Moscow is flooded with petitions for help from colony leaders.

Another complication, worrying the communists, is that hundreds of Russian villagers have heard of the Mennonites' decision to leave and are sending delegates to Moscow to interview colonists and ask if it wouldn't be possible for other Russian villagers to migrate.

To prevent the emigration microbe from spreading, a strong police guard has been placed around the wooden shacks on the outskirts of Moscow, where many Mennonites are housed, and Russians, who are caught attempting to converse with the Germans, are arrested. The Moscow foreign office has also refused the request of the German ambassador to grant the colonists free visas to leave Russia, and every person over sixteen is asked to pay 250 roubles (about $110) per visa.

Pro is Touchy Problem.

The emigration of the Mennonites is furnishing a touchy problem for both German and soviet governments. Some fifty of the colonists, who have arrived in Riga waiting transshipment to Canada, are receiving pitiful letters from their co-religionists in Moscow, who are afraid that the soviet government intends forcing them to board trains, which will dump them destitute and starving at some way station along the trans-Siberian railway.

The German embassy at Moscow has already urgently protested against this plan of the soviets. There is talk of establishing the Mennonites upon some of the larger estates in East Prussia.

Two groups have already left Russia and have arrived in Kiel, but there is considerable doubt as to the emigration of the remaining colonists, because of the conflict between the Canadian Pacific railway, which had agreed to handle the migration, and the soviet government.

Recently the Cheka, secret police, ordered the agents of the railroad to discontinue the work of transportation by way of Latvia, saying that the soviet foreign office—saying that the railroad refuses to pay the soviet tariff fares from Leningrad to Germany, and the soviet foreign office is now demanding that Germany pay the bill.

ARCTIC ARMEN FREEZE LIMBS IN TREK OVER ICE

Eskimo Woman Saved as She Crashes Through.

This is the third installment of the thrilling adventures and rescue of Col. C. D. H. McAlpine, Canadian millionaire mining man, who with seven companions on a treasure hunt by airplane was lost in the arctic for two months. Yesterday Richard Pearce of the Tribune, told how, after landing near the Eskimo settlement of Dease Point, far above the arctic circle, the party fought their way, with Eskimos guiding them, over ice and snow to Kent peninsula, across Dease strait from the trading post of Cambridge Bay. The party rescued at Kent peninsula awaiting cold weather so the water would freeze, and prepared to start across on Oct. 26.

BY RICHARD PEARCE.

[Editor Northern Miner, Toronto.]
[Chicago Tribune Staff Service.]
[Copyright 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]
BATHURST INLET, Above Arctic Circle, Northwest Territory, Canada, Nov. 10.—[By Radio.]—On Oct. 26 we started on our trek across the treacherous Dease strait to the trading post at Cambridge Bay. Breakfast came at 5 o'clock and then we were off. The traveling was difficult, but one of the Eskimos said we would reach the other side in three hours. Suddenly, to our consternation and apparently to that of the Eskimos as well, we ran into a lead of water. A hurried consultation took place among our guides and we started along the water looking for some place to cross.

There was none, but soon an ice floe 100 yards wide was noticed to be moving, showing that the straits were breaking up again. It was a crushed party that journeyed back to shore, two miles or so, that had taken nearly three hours to cover. Igloos were rebuilt and hope held of colder weather that night to close up the leads. Instead, it turned warmer. The temperature rose to above zero and a wind blew strongly all night.

Send Up Flares.

That evening flares were sent off from the top of a high hill on the chance that some one on the Cambridge side of the straits would notice them and help be sent out. We found out later that Eskimos 130 miles away had seen the flares but the people at Cambridge were unable to do so as that settlement is surrounded on three sides by high hills.

The food question again became acute on Oct. 27. All the frozen fish were gone by that time and there was nothing left but dried herring and whitefish. That the Eskimos had expected no difficulty in making the crossing is indicated by the fact that no tea, coffee, flour or oatmeal had been saved. Again nothing was left but dog food. Thereafter members of the party referred to the northwest arm of Kent peninsula as Peabuck point, meaning in Eskimo, "all gone."

Even Eskimos Lose Smiles.
There was a long conference that morning on Oct. 27. All the frozen fish were gone by that time and there was nothing left but dried herring and whitefish. That the Eskimos had expected no difficulty in making the crossing is indicated by the fact that no tea, coffee, flour or oatmeal had been saved. Again nothing was left but dog food. ## FROM FAR REACHES OF THE ARCTIC

The remarkable story, now being printed in The Tribune, of the rescue of the McAlpine treasure hunters after being lost eight weeks far above the arctic circle, where their planes were forced down, is also an epoch of modern communications. The first portion of the story came from a little Canadian government radio station at Bathurst Inlet, on an Arctic ocean gulf. It was relayed across the vast northern wilderness to the station at Hope's Advance, on Ungava bay. Ungava bay is an inlet off Davis strait, through which the Arctic ocean connects with the north Atlantic ocean. From Hope's Advance the story was sent on a low tone radio set to Ottawa, Ont., and thence to Chicago. The remainder of the story is coming to The Tribune by way of the radio station at Port Churchill, far up on the western shore of Hudson bay, from where it is relayed to land wires at Winnipeg, Man.

In the igloo, so we spent our time in our sleeping bags until the Eskimos waded us we had better get up as the continued heat was causing us to perspire.

So we had to get up and were even more miserable. The old order of staying in bed until noon that had reigned at Dease Point, so as to cut down on food requirements, again went into effect. But it was a long wait until the two Eskimos, Charlie and Jimmie, returned about 6 a. m. on Nov. 1.

Nothing but Raw Fish.
By that time our food supply had dwindled to almost nothing. Worse still, our fuel had run out and there was no way of heating the only food left—frozen herring. It was a question of eating the fish raw or not and we had to eat.

Joe, another of the Eskimos, had gone for seal blubber, but there was not enough of it to use for fuel. It did, however, give off a dull light, but that was little comfort to us who wanted cooked food. The Eskimos offered us blubber, but one trial convinced those of our party who tried it that blubber is an acquired taste and we had not then got to the stage where we could stand it. Two four gallon tins of it were alongside my head all night and the smell alone was nauseating.

At this time the total food supply for the party, humans and the dogs, was twelve pounds of herring and the skins of perhaps a dozen or more otters.

Eskimos Hear Airplane.
When Charlie and Jimmie got back they ushered in another reversal of conditions in which our stay in the arctic has been replete. They brought fish, ptarmigan, ground squirrel, flour, sugar, coffee and tobacco. It did not take long for the Eskimo women to make bannocks, and even though it was cooked with seal oil, it tasted wonderfully good to us. And the tobacco was an unhelped for treat.

The Eskimos told us that on Oct. 27 the Eskimos who had stayed behind at Dease point had heard a plane but could not see it. No better news could have been brought us, as it showed a search was being carried on and prospects were good for being picked up at any time.

Efforts to persuade the Eskimos to start for the post on Nov. 1 were not successful, though from all appear-open without any apparent great discomfort, even though the temperature was well below zero. The experience might have been tragic to one of us whites, but Alice when redressed calmly lit a cigarette, made with a toilet paper wrapper, and carried on as before.

"At 4 p. m. we struck this ice that the Eskimos could find no way to cross. It was then a matter of parking for the night on the ice, hoping that in the morning the thin ice would become safe going. Some of the party were fearful that the strong wind then blowing would carry the floe down the straits and perhaps break it up. The Eskimos assured us that the wind would die down during the night. The colonel, Bob Baker, and I crawled into our sleeping bags and I doubt that I was ever more tired in all my life. I had to be awakened between cups of tea.

"McAlpine in Agony."

"The colonel was in agony from chafed feet. But never a complaint from him."
"As the Eskimos are still up an opportunity is given to bring up the diary. But we are getting near the post and Sunday should see us there, unless we run into more grief."
"The colonel just told Bob that he had a hunch our fortunes were going to switch tomorrow. Our bad luck had passed and better things were in store for us. Then no more of trying to keep up this record with half frozen fingers in the way below freezing temperature.

"An igloo is being built with a sweeping wind to the chimney to the marrow. The colonel and I are unable to do much except a little chinking and a few other such minor things as trying to move snow blocks into position for Jack to work."
"The colonel just told Bob that he had a hunch our fortunes were going to switch tomorrow. Our bad luck had passed and better things were in store for us. Then no more of trying to keep up this record with half frozen fingers in the way below freezing temperature.

The Final Day of Agony.

For the final day of the trip to Cambridge the diary is also quoted as follows: "Night of nights, we are at Cambridge Bay. Messages have gone out to our families, and we can go to bed in peace, but what a day! It started at 5 a. m. with a very scanty breakfast and then a race across thin ice. The colonel, who was in apparent great discomfort, got a ride part way over the first five mile stretch, but the rest of us had to run, dodging the dark green spots in the ice that one could see wavering under the man ahead."

"Dogs were urged by word and lash to keep moving and we had to keep up, knowing that if anything happened to one of us there would be real danger in the others stopping to try to help. My second wind passed by without recognition, and I was running on my fifth about the second mile. How we kept going I don't know except that we had to."

"By the time we got on safe ice it was early. Our legs were tired, sore and chapped and the bitter wind, combined with 27 below zero temperature, bit into our lungs. Even with the strenuous exercise, faces and fingers were frostbitten. The thin ice had a layer of salty slush on it which worked into our footwear and in no time moccasins, socks, and socks were frozen together.

"Poor Don O'Sullivan! Can see his face as he struggles along, with feet frostbitten, one member of the party close to another, a hurried search was made for frostbitten fingers. 'Your chin,' or 'Your nose is frozen,' would be heard. Four times my nose was thawed out during the day."

"My personal casualty list for the day was: Six finger tips, ten toe tips, both cheeks, chin and nose frostbitten. This was probably an average for the rest of the party, excepting Don, who was worst hit."

"We had twelve miles to go, but we must have traveled at least thirty, dodging around floes to get the best going. Just when we needed the rest most the dogs played out and it became a question of a continual walk or trot, as the going permitted."

"None of us will ever forget Nov. 3, 1920. We had every reason to, remember it. Miles away from Cambridge Bay, those miles seemed extra long. We could see what looked like a house post for ships."

(Mr. Pearce tomorrow will tell us The Tribune of the joyous welcome at Cambridge Bay.)

BENCH ADVISORY COUNCILS BEGIN TOUR TOMORROW

Two Groups Will Study in Canada and East.

Extensive programs of hard work have been arranged for the joint advisory councils by their hosts in the Canadian and eastern cities they will visit during the next week.

A party of fifteen, representing the bench and bar of the state and county and including several legislative leaders, the two commissions will leave Chicago over the Grand Trunk tomorrow at 5 p. m. bound for their first stop at Toronto. After a three day stay there they will proceed to Montreal for a similar stop. Then they will go on to Boston and New York with the expectation of being back in Chicago just before Thanksgiving day.

Will Study Statutes.
The state commission was created by act of the legislature with the approval of Gov. Emmerson and the county body was established by the Cook county board. The purpose of each is to study the laws of Illinois in the fields of judicial organization, criminal procedure, and civil procedure, and to submit a program of recommendations to the next general assembly.

A statement of this purpose has been communicated to the four cities on the itinerary. In each instance to the bar association or some similar organization, and word has come back from each municipality that from the moment the Illinoisans alight from their train until they depart they will have their time fully occupied with steady labor on their subject.

For example, D. L. McCarthy, K. C., president of the Ontario Bar association, has written outlining the program for Toronto.

Busy Time in Toronto.

"The Benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada," he wrote, "are giving a luncheon in your honor the first day at Osgood's hall, the headquarters of the provincial courts, after which Mr. Justice Riddell will discuss with you the matters in which you are interested. In the evening the Ontario Bar association is giving a dinner."

At Montreal a similar program has been arranged by the bar association. In Boston the tourists will be taken in charge by the judicial advisory council of Massachusetts, one day at Harvard law school being arranged by Roscoe Pound. The New York plans are being perfected by Judge Julian W. Mack, former Chicagoan.

The state council is the larger group. It consists of Senators Andrew S. C. Robertson, William S. Jewell, Victor P. Michel, and James J. Egan, Representatives Frank L. McCarthy and Michael L. Igoe, President John D. Black and Vice President William L. Velde of the Illinois Bar association, and Judge Norman L. Jones. The Cook county group will consist of Justice Frederic R. De Young of the state Supreme court, Judges Denis E. Sullivan and Harry M. Fisher, Prof. Robert W. Millar of Northwestern university, Attorney Amos C. Miller, former president of the Chicago Bar association, and possibly John J. Healy, former state's attorney.

PRINCESS WILL WED HUMBERT OF ITALY ON JAN. 8

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10.—Princess Marie José will become the bride of Crown Prince Humboldt of Italy on Jan. 8, it was announced here formally tonight. That date was selected because it is the birthday of Queen Elena of Italy. The official announcement in Italy will be made tomorrow in order to coincide with the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel. While Rome is likely to furnish the scene of the royal nuptials, the place is up to the Italian family and leaves the possibility that Turin may be chosen.

The princess is busy getting her trousseau in shape, and six Brussels dressmaking houses are working overtime. The bridal veil will be entirely of old Brussels lace. The bride will have twelve lingerie outfits. The entire Belgian royal family will attend the wedding and also probably the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg.

Drenches Self in Kerosene and Then Burns to Death

Jackson Miller, 40 years old, committed suicide in his room in the rear of 1022 West Jackson boulevard yesterday by drenching himself in a tub filled with kerosene and then setting fire to himself. ## CALL OPENING OF BRIDGES FOR TUGS NEEDLESS

Canadian Experts Advise Diesel Engines.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 10.—An opinion was sought here today as to whether the conditions applying on the Chicago river are such as to prohibit the use of tugs which can navigate the river without causing interference to road traffic by forcing the opening of bridges. W. Lambert, an outstanding Canadian boat designer, member of the firm of Lambert & Germain, consulting naval architect designers to the Canadian government, and Capt. H. L. Beauvais, marine superintendent of the Ontario Paper company, were interviewed. Mr. Lambert dictated an opinion, to which Capt. Beauvais subscribed. He said: "The average steam tug of a power suitable to the requirements of traffic on the Chicago river is a type which, if not specially to allow of a low bridge clearance, would normally have a smokestack and mast and possibly pilot house which would project above 14 feet from the water line and might even project 20 to 24 feet," Mr. Lambert said.

No Need to Raise Bridges.
"There is, however, no difficulty whatever in designing and building a steam tug so that it could pass under a bridge with a 14 foot clearance above the water without necessitating the raising of bridges or causing disturbance to vehicular traffic.

"Tugs have frequently been designed with limitations involved. For instance, many of the tugs on the Thames at London, England, are fitted with hinged smokestacks and masts in order to pass under, without obstruction, at a height of 15 feet and 6 inches above water.

"The steam tug of large power requires a fairly high smokestack when installed with natural draft boilers, but this height can be reduced by adopting forced draft, although, as stated before, the smokestack does not in itself present a difficult problem if arranged to hinge temporarily while passing under bridges.

Recommends Diesel Tug.
"The advent of the Diesel engine for tugs has, however, rendered the problem even more easy, because while the steam tug requires a high smokestack, in the case of the Diesel tug the shorter the stack the better for operation.

"There would be no difficulty whatever in building a Diesel tug, of any power required, for service in the Chicago river, projecting no more than say 10 feet above the water line, which would give very ample bridge clearance. Such a tug would be just as easy and economical to operate as any tug with less bridge clearance."

Loss of Vodka Trade Raises
Estonian Potato Problem

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

TALLINN, Estonia, Nov. 10.—The record size of the Estonian potato crop is causing the government to worry over its disposal. Estonia formerly used most of its potatoes for vodka, which was smuggled into dry Finland. This export ceased when German smugglers flooded the Finnish market with cheap alcohol made from sugar beet residue. The Soviet trade delegation has refused to buy the potatoes, despite a shortage in Russia.

TWO N. U. CO-EDS, 4 OTHERS DIE ON GRADE CROSSINGS

Auto Accidents Take
16 Lives in Day.

Another sedan ran over his body without stopping.
Mrs. Louise Maeder, 7336 Kilbourne avenue, Niles Center, 49 years old. Struck while crossing Albany avenue at Howard avenue, Evanston. The motorist, Gustave H. Goetz, 29 years old, a mechanic, at 2724 Noyes street, Evanston, drove her to the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where she was pronounced dead. Goetz, charged with involuntary manslaughter, was held in a $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Agnes Wojack, 46 years old, 4905 South Kolin avenue. Hurled through a windshield to the pavement at 15th street and Kedvale avenue when a sedan in which she rode with Mrs. Jean Rak, 42 years old, 2052 South Wood street, collided with a car driven by Stanley Rodziewicz, 4522 South Kedvale avenue.

Benjamin Adams, 48 years old, 154 West Chestnut street, a gardener. Crossing Chicago avenue with his head bent under an umbrella, Adams failed to see a car approaching north in La Salle street and driven by John Horst, 24 years old, a cab driver of 4941 Princeton avenue.

Albert Fahler, 69 years old, 2227 North Oakley avenue. Run down by a motorist at Hoyne avenue and Irving Park boulevard. Died in the Martha Washington hospital. Damen avenue police took in custody Harry Randall, 2739 West North avenue, whose story that he found Fahler unconscious in the street was questioned.

William C. Donley, 54 years old, 939 North Lorel avenue. Died in the West Suburban hospital of injuries suffered Friday when, at Crawford avenue and Huron street, his car struck a depression in the street.

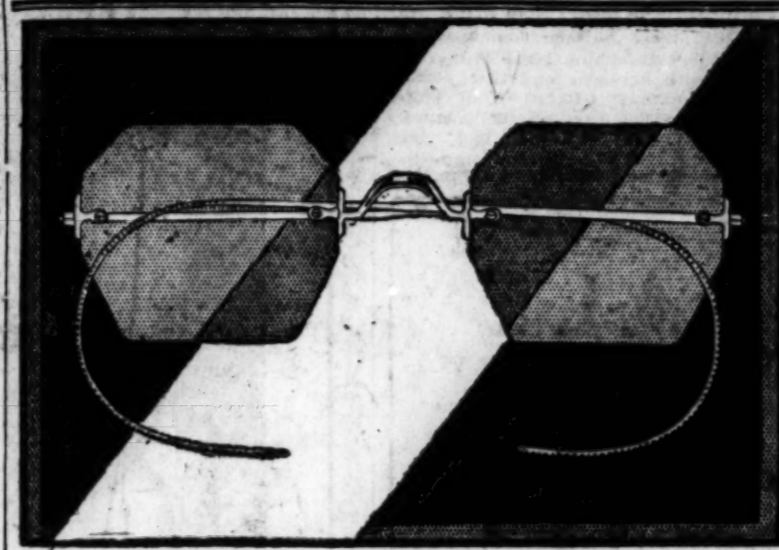

Ferdinand Tongworth, 78 years old, 5062 Elston avenue, a watchman. Died in the Belmont hospital twenty hours after being struck by a car at Elston and Foster avenues. The motorist, Charles O. Nelson, 5225 North Leamington avenue, was released.

John Maschy, 48 years old, 1719 North Washenaw avenue. Crushed by his own truck when the gears slipped, pinning him against a wall in the rear of 1042 Madison street on Thursday.

He died at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.
Joseph Williams, 40 years old, 9217 Chestnut street, Franklin Park. He died early this morning in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries suffered yesterday when he was struck at Sacramento and Fullerton avenues by the car of Albert Spiegel, 2700 Thomas street. Spiegel was held.

The sixteenth death occurred in Gary, Ind. Jesse Hodges, 30 years old, residing in the vicinity of 83d street and Broadway, Gary, was fatally injured when he was run down by an automobile driven by Emil Berndt, 1514 Roosevelt street, Chicago. Berndt was held on a technical manslaughter charge.

Mrs. Emily Leach, 38 years old, 3205 East End avenue, suffered a spinal fracture and her 9 year old daughter, Helen, incurred a skull fracture when they were run down by a hit and run motorist at 75th street and Stony Island avenue. Grand Crossing police pursued the fugitive two miles and captured him. He identified himself as David Minard, 34 years old, 5229 Jeffery avenue.

LIQUOR ARTICLE WRITER INVITED TO BE WITNESS

Capital Grand Jury Seeks Data on Drinking.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—A magazine writer who charges "dry" Washington consumes more liquor than "wet" Washington did prior to prohibition, has been invited to testify before the District of Columbia grand jury which is investigating booze charges made on the floor of the senate by Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Rep., Ia.).

He is W. W. Liggett, a contributor to the magazine Plain Talk, who said in a recent article that the capital's annual liquor bill is $20,000,000, the city has 450 speakeasies, and that "drinks can be readily obtained in the capital itself."

Others to Testify.
Edward E. Loomis, Lehigh Valley railroad president, and Frank S. Hight, manager of the Willard hotel, will be other witnesses. Loomis, Brookhart charged, drank some "alcoholic stuff" at a Wall street dinner given for Republican senators. The party was given at the Willard. In his article Liggett said there are 650 places in the capital where liquor can be obtained now compared with 300 saloons and retail liquor stores in 1916. He said some 1,670,000 gallons of whisky and wine have been consumed in Washington in 1929, some 175,000 gallons more than thirteen years ago.

Article Is Quoted.
The Liggett article, in part, read: "At least 6,000 gallons of grain and distilled alcohol (mostly the latter) is run into Washington every week by automobile from Baltimore or Philadelphia, and is manufactured into gin, 'Scotch,' and other synthetic drinks," he said; "approximately 9,000 gallons of Virginia corn, St. Mary's rye, and other moonshine liquor is run in every week from the stills of Maryland and Virginia; about 7,000 gallons of corn liquor or natural alcohol is manufactured every week by the 50 to 100 commercial stills which are constantly operating in the District of Columbia; about 1,000 gallons weekly is consumed on medical prescriptions, and not less than 200 gallons a week leaks out from the privileged stocks brought in by the 50 varieties of foreign embassies."

Some From Cuba.

TEXAS CITY WOULD DISPLACE OFFICIALS NAMED BY GOVERNOR

Borger, Tex., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Borger's new city government, installed by Gov. Moody's agents after the old administration had been forced to resign at the time the city was "cleaned up" under a martial regime, is threatened with an early retirement. A petition has been filed for an election to select a mayor and city commissioners.

The petition bears the names of more than the required ten per cent of the city's voters. Attorneys for the petitioners assert that Mayor Glenn A. Pace and the other city officials resigned on such short notice that a new election was justified.

The city administration resigned when Gov. Moody announced through District Attorney Clem Calhoun that martial law would "not" be lifted until the old administration had been replaced by one which met the approval of Calhoun.

speedy motor boats which connect with tramp run runners off the Virginia cape.

Insists Bandits Slew Wife
He Insured for $10,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Despite his story that bandits stopped his automobile on the coast highway north of Santa Monica and shot his wife to death because she recognized one of them, John Bolton is being held by police for suspicion of murder. He suffered a minor bullet wound which he attributed also to the bandits. Mrs. Bolton was shot at close range, police say. They learned that Bolton recently took out a $10,000 insurance policy on his wife without the knowledge of her relations.

DUCE ASKS ITALY TO MAKE HIM BIG BOSS OF INDUSTRY

Deputies to Vote on New Economic Laws.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, Nov. 10.—Important measures, which aim to perfect Premier Mussolini's dictatorial governmental machinery, will be submitted for the approval of the corporate chamber of deputies which meets Nov. 28. The senate convenes a week later.

The first measure reduces the membership in the grand Fascist council solely to Mussolini appointees. The former practice of certain government officials and high party chiefs being members by right of their position is to be abolished. This change is made because, as Premier Mussolini recently said, any organization which deliberates secretly must have a small membership if secrets are to be kept.

May Become Economic Arbiter.
The other measure provides for the establishment of what is called the national council of corporations, consisting of 100 members, of which Premier Mussolini will be president.

This will comprise a sort of an extended directorate of all Italian economic activities, and as president Il Duce will become economic arbiter of the country as well as the political ruler. The council of corporations will have charge of seven corporations, into which all economic activities of Italy are theoretically organized.

It will be divided into various sections with Premier Mussolini having the prerogative to convoke the entire council or any of its parts. The seven sections of the council correspond to the seven main branches of economic production. The council will have the widest and most drastic coordinating powers between capital and labor.

It may compel modification in contracts between workers and employers in one branch of the industry, if it deems the contract detrimental to another group or to the general economic interests of the country. According to some interpretations, the council will even have the right to regulate prices and compel agreements in certain contingencies.

The budget commission and other committees of the chamber will begin preparatory sessions next week. The corporate chamber, elected last March in the famous "yes man plebiscite" will find four of its 400 members missing because of expulsions from the Fascist party or automatic suspension from the chamber.

Adults Usurp Playgrounds of Children; Police Act

Evanson's public parks were closed to sandlot football yesterday when Chief of Police William Freeman, acting on complaints of residents that adults were usurping the children's playgrounds, stopped several games. At Gray park, Main street and Ridge avenue, James Blackburn, 19 years old, 911 Maple avenue, and Jack Richards, 18 years old, Ridge View hotel, were arrested as the captains of two teams playing there, but were released with a warning.

ARMISTICE DAY, 1929.

The war moves back into the middle distance, but it continues to color the thinking of the generation now in command of the nation. We date events in our lives as before or after the war, and we do so not only because the war was a stupendous personal experience but also because the war appears to us to have ushered in a new era in our national life.

We are now far enough away from the autumn of 1918 to begin to appraise the consequences of our participation in the war. When the armistice came we had some two million men in France and perhaps as many more in training in the United States. The nation had proved that it could fight and that it could mobilize its resources for war. For the first time since the civil war the United States was in a position to call upon trained men for military service if they were needed. The course of our foreign relations since 1918 has been profoundly influenced by these facts.

Had we not entered the war, it is likely that the victors, whichever side had won, would have made us feel the force of the victory. We might well have been excluded from markets, discriminated against in trade. Sooner or later we should have been forced in all probability to choose between war and national humiliation. The fact that we had shown a willingness and ability to fight has saved us, in the post-war years, from making that choice. Our country enjoyed much the same immunity following the civil war and for the same reason.

The time is approaching, if it has not already come, when the veterans of the last war can no longer be counted upon to defend the nation. The boy of 18 in 1917 is 35 today. His usefulness as a soldier is becoming limited. At the same time the pacifist lobbies are doing their utmost to weaken the military arms of the nation. To the extent that the pacifists succeed the United States will lose its hard won immunity from foreign efforts to dominate us, to infringe upon our rights, to restrict our development. To the extent that we are rendered impotent we shall sacrifice what is perhaps the most valuable advantage which we won by participating in the war.

FALL AND HIS BACKGROUND.

Albert B. Fall, sentenced to a year in jail, with a fine of $100,000, is the first member of a President's cabinet to be found guilty and ordered punished for a crime involving his official position and duty. He was convicted of a felony in leasing the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to Edward L. Doheny, from whom he had accepted $100,000. Fall was secretary of the interior in President Harding's cabinet. He was not the only one of that President's appointees and subordinates to be touched by scandal or charged with malfeasance or crimes against the public.

It may never be proved, but it has been suspected in a line of plausible reasoning, that much of what happened after Harding's inauguration was planned before his nomination and that his nomination was contingent upon agreements such as produced the naval oil reserve scandal. Certainly, without loss of time steps were taken which would indicate a prearrangement.

It may not be proved that the death of Jake Hannon of Oklahoma, killed by his mistress, removed the man who was to have taken the part afterward played by Fall in the department of the interior, but such a probability has been in the thoughts of many American citizens who know something of what went on in Chicago at the time of the national convention which nominated Harding.

Harding was a product of Ohio politics. He had one hand reached out to the group of Ohio politicians later known collectively as the Ohio gang. With the other he was in fellowship with the political clerics who had brought religious organizations into political action. Ohio was one of the first states in which it was discovered by unscrupulous men that a combination of religious professions and corrupt practices could go far and safely.

Ohio, with the headquarters of the Anti-Saloon league at Westerville, had produced a school of politics which perturbed rascality with the odor of sanctity and which found protection in the political law. This scheme of combining the lip service of religion with the use of burglar tools had the approval of the Ohio moralists and prohibitionists, because it enabled them to use the politicians for the one purpose they had in mind, the coercion of government.

The church congregations of the United States are for honesty in public life and incorruptibility in public office. The political clericalism which works with corruptionists betrays the instinctive desires and the confirmed wishes of the people of the congregations. The object of the political cleric is a control of political action for his purposes, and the spoils politician barter a vote for a character indorsement.

These considerations may be taken into account in the case of Mr. Fall, the only cabinet minister ever convicted of a crime committed in office.

CHICAGO CONGRESSMEN AND THE BRIDGES.

The army engineer in charge of the Second Chicago district discourages the city from expecting relief from the war department against the harbor tugs for which the river bridges must now be elevated even during the closed bridge hours. Maj. Wild, the engineer, believes that the river interests would suffer an injustice if the privileges of a tug were curtailed, and he is certain that the war department would support this opinion.

Maj. Wild is not responsible to the voters of Chicago. He is assigned to the supervision of navigation works in the Chicago area. Quite naturally in any conflict between the convenience of the public and the representations of shippers he would be disposed to favor the latter, so that criticism of his judgment in this emergency would be gratuitous.

Chicago's representatives in congress, however, are the proper men to intervene in his behalf. We claim it is an injustice for harbor tugs to interrupt the movement of thousands of Chicago citizens during the hours of greatest congestion on the streets. We believe that there is an adjustment which will eliminate this nuisance without injuring the property of shippers or discouraging navigation in the port of Chicago. It is the business of our congressmen in this local situation involving federal jurisdiction to represent the true interests of their constituents by sponsoring the remedy.

The shippers claim that it is important for the harbor tugs to have the freedom of the river at all hours. Maj. Wild agreed, but he admitted that the movements of some of the tugs during closed bridge hours were unnecessary. Many of the tugs are superfluous. They were designed for a bridge clearance of sixteen feet. High lake levels have reduced the clearance under most of the Chicago river bridges to less than sixteen feet, so that, according to the terms of the ordinance, the tender must raise the bridge even during closed bridge hours when a harbor tug signals. Inasmuch as the tugs are old, it would not be an injustice to require their owners to replace them with new tugs of considerably lower clearance.

At least a few of the modern tugs could be introduced if the shippers objected to complete replacement, and they could be used during closed bridge hours. When the lakes-to-gulf waterway is completed the new type of tug will be in general use and the obsolete type used here now will be scrapped. Why, then, should not the reform be adopted immediately? Our congressmen should be glad of this opportunity to perform a service for their constituents which would be remembered and rewarded.

A DUTY TO VETERANS.

A bill is in congress amending section 200 of the world war veterans act to provide that "in case of an active tuberculosis disease the date of Jan. 1, 1925, fixed in the preceding proviso as the date prior to which the disease must have been present, is extended to Jan. 1, 1930, if the claim of the presence of such disease is supported by the affidavits of two licensed physicians."

This amendment should be adopted without fail at the coming session. It is a measure of justice to men who served their country. The fact that men who served their country did not develop or was not discovered before Jan. 1, 1925, should not shut off the veteran's claim to federal care. The men of the national army of the European war left their homes and normal conditions for abnormal surroundings and an exacting service, either in the field abroad or at home. In many cases resistance to disease was broken down or seriously diminished, and no chances should be taken by the government of overlooking any source of subsequent disability. Even if tuberculosis did not actively appear conditions favorable to its development may have been created, and this is logical and just ground for relief.

The American people want to do everything practicable for disabled veterans and congress will be only obeying the common conscience when it passes this amendment.

Editorial of the Day

AGAINST DEATH PENALTY.

[St. Louis City (La.) Journal.]

There is a light on in the British house of commons to abolish capital punishment which in this country may not be understandable under the circumstances. For in Great Britain, because of the swiftness and the certainty of punishment, there are, comparatively speaking, few capital crimes, and as a result, few executions. The American might wonder, therefore, why there should be a strong sentiment in favor of abolition.

Regarding the fact that there is no agreement among criminologists on the question of whether severity of punishment deters criminals it yet could be pointed out that in the British Isles there is no crime wave. The fact that capital punishment there is accompanied by slight activity in the perpetration of capital crimes may be offered as a highly satisfactory condition if not as an argument in favor of the death penalty's retention. The American might ask his British neighbor in this connection why he wishes to disturb the status quo when, compared to that in other countries, notably the United States, it is one that accentuates the fact of a minimum in crime.

The house of commons after extensive debate agreed that a select committee representing all parties should investigate the question of whether capital punishment should be abolished. Recommendations of the committee will be reported to the MacDonald government, but it is not indicated so far that in Great Britain there is a likelihood that this method of crime treatment will be abandoned. Lady Astor, American born member of parliament and an advocate of abolition, made the following statement: "A murderer isn't always the worst of men. Sometimes a good man loses his temper and murders his mother-in-law. Why more drunken husbands have not been murdered by their wives is an absolute mystery to me. Civilization is not doing what you want to do. We all want to murder somebody at times."

It happens, however, that Lady Astor, for all her long residence in England and her familiarity with the British character, has overlooked a compelling fact, which is that the Briton has remarkable powers of suppression. The characteristic Englishman does not always do what he wishes to do and for the reason that he retains control of himself. It is reasonable to suspect that with capital punishment abolished in Great Britain there would be many more crimes than there are now. It is a matter for open discussion, of course, whether the severity of punishment is a deterrent, but one cannot ignore the fact that in England good results are shown with penalties that are both drastic and sure.

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE.

THE little red schoolhouse was a great public servant, but it was and is a source of great discomfort and some ill health. It was the foundation of the educational system—aye, of the democracy of the country; but, like other foundations, it was moist in rainy weather, cold in winter, and hot on occasions. The New York commission on ventilation reports on the heating and, incidentally, on the ventilation of rural schools.

As between the ordinary stoves and furnaces and jacketed stoves for heating a one room school they report in favor of the old fashioned stove, as bad as it is. The stoves so heated are not so likely to be badly overheated as that overheating relates to the space near by the stove. The students seated near the windows and outside walls were likely to suffer from cold, while those nearer the source of heat were roasting. In some instances the difference between the temperatures in different parts of the room was as much as thirty to forty degrees. The variations in temperature at different vertical levels was even greater. In one instance the temperature near the floor was 31 and that just below the ceiling was 100.

Every schoolroom should be equipped with a thermometer. The best location for this instrument is the top of the teacher's desk. Experiments to determine the effect of insulating the walls or of one room schools on heating and ventilating are now being conducted. It was found that the temperature of the outside air and the efficiency of heating and ventilation of the schoolroom had an effect on absenteeism. On cold days the number of students who stayed away from school was increased. When schoolrooms were improperly heated the cold weather attendance dropped.

HAVE PHYSICIAN SEE YOU.

R. K. M. writes: I have a heart ailment, which I have been diagnosed as angina. I believe in your column you recommend a pamphlet or book which should be read by those suffering from angina.

Is it necessary for me to put myself in the hands of a physician?

REPLY: I presume you have brooks' small book on angina in mind. You can get it in the bookstores. I believe in your column you know of no pamphlet on the subject unless you mean our booklet on heart disease, which has a few pages on angina. It is sent on receipt of 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

By all means see your physician as you. There are three or four disorders under the name of angina pectoris. At least two of these are highly important.

NOT THE SAME THING.

Sufferer writes: 1. Are sinus infection and hay fever the same thing? 2. Are they caused by improper diet? 3. Or lack of exercise? 4. Is there any cure for hay fever in this climate? 5. Why does it afflict some and others escape?

REPLY: 1. No. 2. No. 3. No. 4. Most cases can be prevented. Some can be cured. 5. We might ask the same question about cancer, consumption, cholera, measles, and every other disease. People who have a lack of nervous power are especially susceptible to hay fever. Certain nose conditions may be a factor. In some cases, also, the accident of exposure to massive doses of pollen is also.

SEE IS NOT ENOUGH.

C. V. H. writes: We are a young married couple and have a child just past two and a half years old. Do you think she is old enough to be taking a cold shower bath every morning? My wife and I always take one and want the little one to get the habit as early as possible. Of course, we would start by having the water little warmer at first, getting colder and colder every few days.

REPLY: See is not enough.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE.

Letters to this department must be signed with real names. Payment will be made on request.

DEATH OF PRESIDENT ELECT.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a United States President and Vice President are elected on Nov. 4 and between that time and March 4, the day of inauguration, they both should die, who would become President?

The federal constitution, Art. II, Sec. 1, provides that "congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and the manner in which he shall be chosen, and the manner in which he shall be removed."

Accordingly, until the disability be removed or a President shall be elected. We do not regard this wording as broad enough to cover the case of failure of a President elect to qualify. Under the summary implied powers doctrine, however, based on the last paragraph of Art. II, Sec. 5, as elaborated by Justice Marshall, congress would have power to provide for such.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MUST NOT BE INTOXICATED IN FACT.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it against the law to make wine for one's own use? M. P.

The prohibitive enforcement officers have ruled that a householder who manufactures in his home for home consumption and fruit juices which require fermentation one-half of 1 per cent or more of alcohol by volume, but which are not intoxicating in fact, does not violate the law; but the challenge of the law is not the point where the beverage becomes intoxicating in fact.

CIVIL SERVICE LAW BEING FLOATED.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I took a civil service examination for bus attendant and was on the list about seven months ago. Now I am told the list was canceled, but can get no reason. Neither can I find out why they have had no examination for bus attendants. The last one was about four years ago and many non-civil service women are now doing that work.

It is generally understood that the civil service law is being floated under the present administration. There is little that one individual can do.

FOR THE FALLEN.

Solemn the drums thrill: Death august and royal
Sings sorrow up into immortal spheres.
There is music in the midst of desolation
And a glory that shines upon our tears.

They went with songs to the battle, they were young,
Straight of limb, true of eye, steady and aglow.
They were staunch to the end against odds uncounted,
They fell with their faces to the foe.

They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

LAURENCE BINTON.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Face to the East! It seems a grim jest.
For this is to honor the lads who "went West."
Face to the East! Stop the traffic and noise;
The moment is sacred, it belongs to the boys.
Face to the East! Banker, farmer, and clerk,
Every rank all conditions, stop both play and work!
Face to the East! This moment's for them.
Our gay laughing boys who died, aye, like men.
For the lads who forever have gone "Over There."
Face to the East! While Memory enwreaps
Her dear arms around us. Now, Bugler, sound "taps."

BALLADE IN TIME OF THE GREAT WAR.

Reign of ruin! Who rides by night
Over the roads and past the weirs?
Looms a troop in the lurid light,
Rings a cry on the startled ears,
Hoot-beats volley among the meers.
The winds rush down and the dead leaves dance—
Rapiers! Rapiers! Musketeers
Ride again in the land of France!

Boots and saddles! And bold and bright
Youth goes galloping, Youth that jeers
Death and the Dust in pride of might—
War is ever the word it hears;
Peace is over the pact it fears
When roll the drums of the foe's advance.
Aloos, Porthos, the Musketeers
Ride again in the land of France!

Thrust and parry and press the fight!
What of the heroes famed of years?
Lo, they fly with the eagle's flight
When France has need of them—France in tears!
Lo, they laugh at the foreign gaunt
And sing with the song of guns! Perchance
D'Artagnan and the Musketeers
Ride again in the land of France!

L'ENVOI.

Stirrup-cups for the cavaliers,
And the old oath over of old romance—
"One for all!" and the Musketeers
Ride again in the land of France!

THE KING OF THE BLACK ISLES.

REMINISCENCE.

The woods along the forest way
Are wooded with tufted snow;
So looked the woods in Bois de Pre
One winter long ago.

'Tis long, when vanished youth is mourned,
To know the time he by;
And some in Bois de Pre had scorned
The fear of men to die.

The carnal whirl of winged death
Spun round and dragged them down;
Small reck they now what any saith,
The prophet or the clown.

The woods along the forest way
Are wooded with tufted snow;
So looked the woods in Bois de Pre
One winter long ago.

THE SOLICITOR.

MY BUDDY.

(TO LEO, STABLE.)

'Twas not his lot to fall on battlefield,
Charging the foe where glory's pennon flaunted;
But on a barracks cot, by fever haunted,
His body split apart, Nor were revealed
The daring deeds his fiery heart might yield,
The courage of a soul by fear undaunted.
The chirvity his bright escutcheon vaulted
Had not untimely death his virtues sealed.

Sustained by a calm fortitude, he bore
The anguish of a disappointed heart,
Nor murmured he, nor played the craven's part,
Loyal to the end, a soldier to the core.

Fades the light,
And a star,
Cometh night;
And a star
Leads all,
Speedeth all,
To their rest.

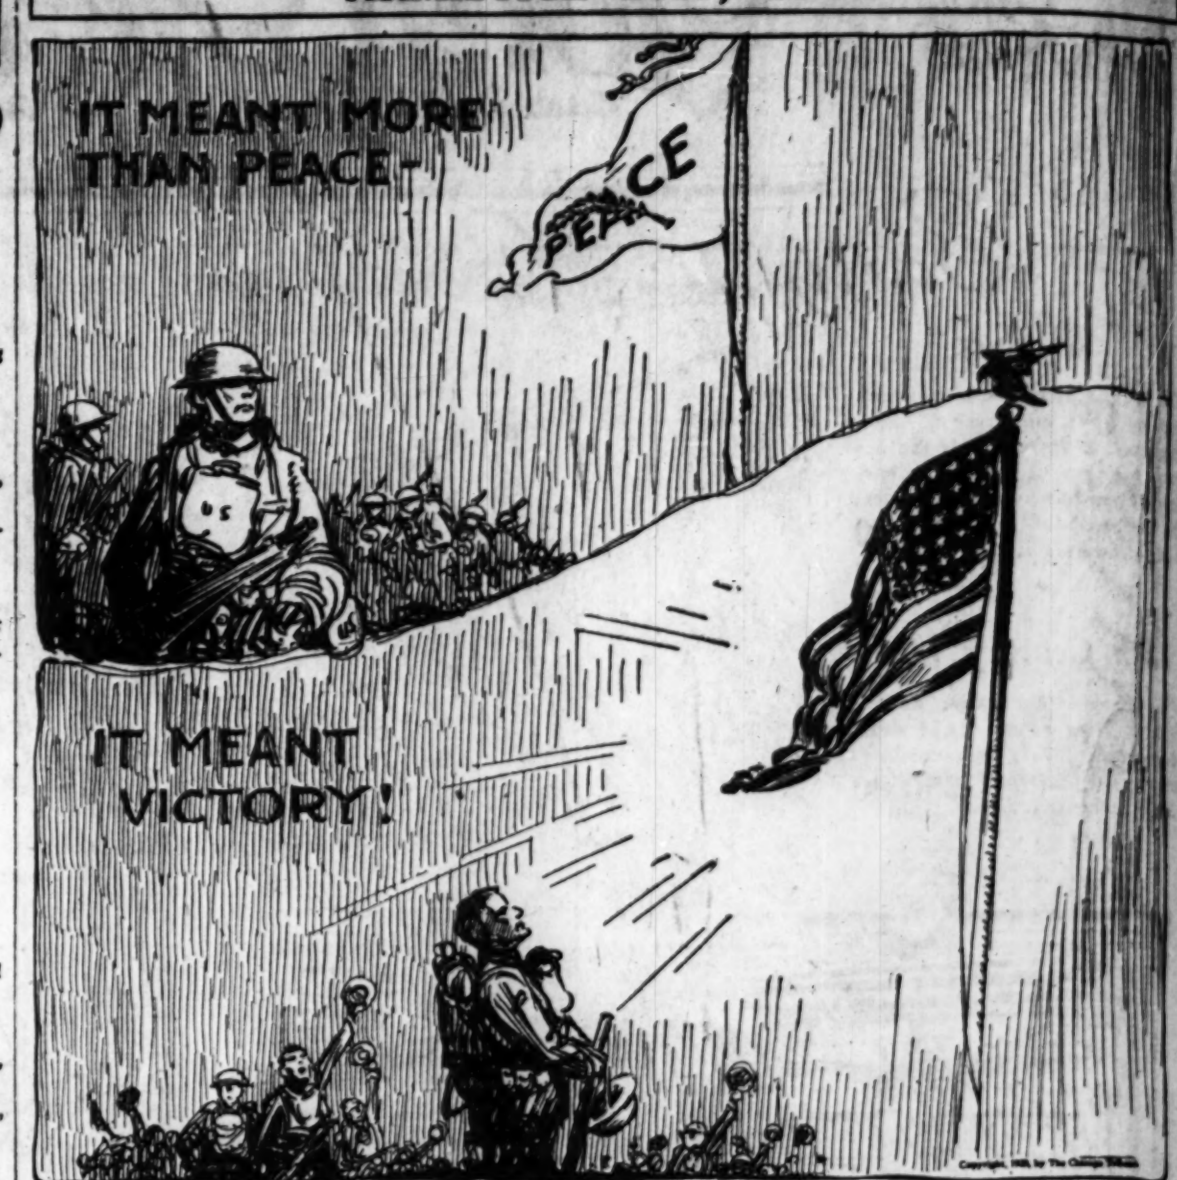

Buddy, they pinned a medal on my breast,
I lay it on your grave, you fought the best.

P. D. GO.

TO YOU who spent weary months in barren, gloomy training camps in remorseless drudgery—
TO YOU who went overseas and under murderous fire and sickening, torturing gas, never faltered nor failed—
TO YOU who defied submarines and a nameless grave in the ocean and landed our army in France—
TO YOU who are still suffering from wounds and gas, shell shock and disease—
TO YOU who died—
OUR PRAYERS, our love, and our tears.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1864.
NEW YORK.—The story published that Atlanta had been burned and Sherman was marching directly on Charleston, S. C., is discredited in military circles, but the New York Times' Washington special has a long dispatch giving it that Sherman is probably on his way to Savannah, Ga.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Some time ago the western sanitary commission sent large supplies to Atlanta for our prisoners at Andersonville, Ga. Military movements prevented their delivery, and now Sherman writes that "it may be necessary for him to go to Andersonville to deliver the supplies in person." The Democrat has private intelligence that Porter's fleet is going to Savannah or Charleston. This means cooperation with Sherman.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The question of the presidency no longer elicits a passing inquiry. Mr. Lincoln is re-elected by so overwhelming a majority that the McClellan men are dispirited to deny having a candidate in the field at all. In congress we have heard more than the two-thirds vote required to amend the constitution and abolish slavery.

CAIRO, Ill.—Maj. Gen. A. J. Smith's command has arrived at Paducah. Its destination is unknown.
NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Advices from Jacksonville represent Forrest as retreating in the direction of Corinth.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ex-Gov. Joseph W. Pifer of Illinois was appointed by President McKinley as a member of the interstate commerce commission to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of W. J. Calhoun.

CHICAGO.—William T. Ball, former alderman of the 24th ward and well known in the city's business circles, died at his home in Pasadena, Cal., at the age of 61.

CHICAGO.—Protesting with his last words that he was innocent of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Rachel Becker, in their home, 5017 Rockwell street, on Jan. 27, 1899, August Albert Becker was hanged in the county jail at noon. He was alleged to have killed his wife's body to pieces and to have boiled them in an effort to destroy evidences of his crime.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President McKinley will leave Washington within the next 48 hours to visit Vice President Hobart at his bedside in Paterson. The President received a telegram from Mr. Hobart expressing a desire to see him once more.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1919.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The United Mine Workers of America, through its general committee, decided to obey the mandate of United States District Judge B. Anderson, which means the recall of the order for a strike of 425,000 bituminous coal miners of the nation. Acting President John L. Lewis made this statement: "Gentlemen, we will comply with the mandate of the court. We do it under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Organized labor is not greater than the law of the land. The United States government made this stern rejoinder to the pronouncement of the American Federation of Labor executive council breathing defiance in the injunction suit against the United Mine Workers of America. President Wilson, through Attorney General Palmer, accepted the challenge of the labor leaders for a fight to the finish, if it must be.

"The sovereignty of the government must and will be maintained," said a statement from the White House. ROUSE'S POINT, N. Y.—Edward, prince of Wales, entered the United States tonight and received his first welcome to the republic at this out of the way New York town. He was greeted by Secretary of State Lansing and a staff of army and navy officers. His train went on to Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Victor Berger of Wisconsin, Socialist leader, one-time representative in congress from Milwaukee and elected again to the house in 1918, was denied his seat on the ground of ineffectuality because he "had given aid and comfort to the enemy in the war with Germany." The vote was 300 to 1.

AFTER THE OPERA.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The new ornamental, efficient tone producing plant known as the Civic opera is a wonder. You will have a pleasant time, providing you are not dependent on your own car to take you home. It took our driver three-quarters of an hour the other evening to find us and we to find him.

Could you not suggest to the powers that be that they have various stations, calling them, if you will, A, B, C, D, etc., so your car could come to a given letter and you be there, rather than have it go the gamut, be kept or kept everybody else from getting their cars while it hugs the curb for a block? If that does not work, we probably will have to build the first subway in Chicago or make a double deck street of Market street. If we do not do something about it our women folk will be sick before the opera season is over and their escorts be so disgusted that they will refuse to go.

We want Mr. Inaull's new plant not only to be a great, efficient, splendidly equipped tone producing plant but also one that will leave pleasant memories rather than one shivering with cold.

FRANCIS HENRY.

THE MERGER.
Chicago, Nov. 4.—Regarding the proposal brought up by your correspondent, William Bell Osgood and McCarty, as to admitting the British empire and colonies to membership in the United States, I must again bring up a question which previously has gone unanswered, but which, I understand, the late Andrew Carnegie thought important: Do your correspondents, speaking for Sweden, England, et al., think it would be better to move the seat of government over here or just to keep it in London?

A VIKING STATE.
Chicago, Nov. 4.—You printed a letter from McCarty with reference to the absurd idea of making England, Ireland, etc., states in the Union. McCarty wants to know why Sweden was not considered a prospect for a new state. He actually goes so far as to make a statement that Sweden has contributed as much as England to the civilization of the world. Where would our civilization be today if the barbarian, heathen vikings had been allowed to overrun and mislead western Europe? Those vikings tried their best to wipe out the tiny bit of civilization England had some 1,500 years ago. Still McCarty persists in saying Sweden contributed as much to modern civilization as England and other great nations of today.

DEFENDING THE BOND ISSUE.
Chicago, Nov. 6.—I have just read with interest Fabry's declaration that he has promised to place again on the ballot requests for bond issues for improvements. I, as one of the voters, would like to have you page Mr. Fabry and tell him that as long as he and the Thompson regime remains in power I would not vote one red cent whose expenditure will be controlled by him or any of his cohorts.

It is about time that the Thompson regime became aware of the fact that it is distrusted and is no longer wanted in office. Although voters use the reasonableness for these reasons, the proposition that attacks of our has power?

Would not the abolition of trial by jury be a violation of one of the constitutional rights of the American citizen? Is there not something about the proposition that attacks of our has power?

It is about time that the Thompson regime became aware of the fact that it is distrusted and is no longer wanted in office. Although voters use the reasonableness for these reasons, the proposition that attacks of our has power?

CLAIM NEW WAR MINISTER KEEPS FRENCH ON RHINE

Hard Boiled Veteran Long Opposed Evacuation.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The stopping of the Rhineland evacuation by French troops is no mystery, according to Aux Ecoutes, the weekly Nationalist paper, which says that André Maginot, the new minister of war—a hard drinking veteran of the late war whose leg was crippled in service, and who is a vehement Nationalist—simply called in Gen. Guillaumat, commander of the Rhineland army, and Gen. Debeney, chief of the general staff, and ordered them to stop all troop movements from the Rhineland until the Young plan is in operation.

It is not surprising, says the paper, since M. Maginot twice took occasion, in his rôle of hard boiled soldier, to ask the then minister of war, Paul Painlevé, why he was evacuating the Rhineland before obtaining satisfactory guarantees. This was not surprising since he had preceded M. Painlevé as war minister, and while holding that office in 1923 directed the French operations in the Ruhr.

Flood Economy and Health.
The weekly then goes on to explain M. Painlevé's reason for "permitting" the evacuation of German territory. It says that the war minister's position with the idealistic and left parties was somewhat shaky and he wished to remedy it. So, counting on the toleration of M. Briand, then premier, the peacekeeper trickily arranged the evacuation, alleging two major reasons—namely, economy and health.

Gen. Guillaumat was confronted directly by M. Painlevé with two circumstances—namely, the fact that not enough money was appropriated to keep the entire Rhineland army through the coming winter, also the undesirability of keeping the young French conscripts in the stern Rhineland winter, which is colder than any part of France. He was referring to the scandal of last winter's Rhineland army deaths from pneumonia.

Chief's Protest Futile.
Gen. Guillaumat's protests were futile and he was compelled to order his troops to begin the homeward movement. Alarmed, the French press warned the country. M. Painlevé cleverly explained, alleging economy and health.

Now, M. Maginot, the fiery Nationalist, being minister of war, the orders were countermanded with the more or less plausible explanation that the recent troop movements from the Rhineland did not mean evacuation, being only the usual military shifts.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.
Henry Schwing, 75 years old, Willow Springs, died at his home yesterday of injuries incurred four days ago when he fell down a flight of stairs at the Corn Products company in Argo, where he was employed.

MAN WHO HIRED SHEARER LIKELY WILL LOSE JOB

Capital Puts Pressure on Shipbuilders.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—F. P. Palen, the official primarily responsible for the employment of William B. Shearer as a shipbuilding lobbyist at the Geneva naval conference in 1925, is slated to retire shortly from the vice presidency of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company, according to reports now current in New York, Newport News, and Washington.

The reports of Palen's impending resignation apparently confirm predictions freely made following his appearance before the senate Shearer investigating committee on Sept. 24, when this official defended Shearer's activities as "an observer" and readily admitted it was he who first suggested that the navy "propagandist" be sent abroad to represent three shipbuilding companies, his own, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, and the New York Shipbuilding company.

First to Feel Official Ax.

Source close to the administration have reasoned that, inasmuch as Henry M. Robinson, California banker and one of President Hoover's closest advisers, is chairman of the Newport News company's board, Palen would be the first of the shipbuilding executives to feel the ax if any move were made in the industry to "clean house" in accordance with the indicated desire of President Hoover when he denounced Shearer's activities abroad.

Aside from the embarrassment to Robinson as the President's friend, if Palen were retained, it has been pointed out that the Newport News company naturally would bid upon desirable naval building contracts soon to be advertised.

Contracts at Stake.

Reports that Palen would be allowed to resign from the Newport News company followed publication of news dispatches representing the administration as considering the withholding of future contracts from the three shipbuilding companies which employed Shearer. By taking an affirmative action in advance of the advertising of the forthcoming aircraft carrier and cruiser construction contracts, the Newport News company apparently would be making a bid for removal from the implied "blacklist."

Resignations of other officials in the other companies involved in the Shearer incident would not be surprising to official Washington, as it is assumed the administration's displeasure over the part played by the shipbuilders in sending Shearer to Geneva equally is well known to them.

During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, constipation, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and see the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep it. 15c, 50c and 60c.

Takes 300
Dirigible

BY J. C.

(Chicago Tribune)

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A giant dirigible, like its predecessor, is expected to be constructed in the near future. It is expected to be constructed in the near future. It is expected to be constructed in the near future.

Three hundred Howard and their service out of the R-100 in some respects will be bringing on the side when the new dirigible is given the credit of making a maiden flight. The new dirigible is expected to be constructed in the near future.

BRITAIN'S GIANT 'CUPID AIRSHIP' READY FOR SKIES

Takes 300 Men to Launch
Dirigible on Maiden Trip

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Nov. 10.—England's new and giant airship, the R-100, which is like its sister ship, the R-101, of 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas capacity, is expected to be ready to come out of the hangar at Howden, where it was constructed, at the end of this week and make a flight to Cardington, where the other big dirigible is stationed.

Three hundred soldiers are going to Howden and will camp there until their services are required to take out the big ship from its hangar. It is some respect to the handling of the R-100 will be a more ticklish job than taking out the other monster, for she will have only 6 feet clearance on each side when she leaves the shed.

No Mooring Mast at Howden.
Moreover, she must make her maiden flight immediately, without giving the crew time to familiarize themselves with the ship's peculiarities, as was possible with the R-101, since there is no mooring mast at Howden.

The new dirigible is known as the "Cupid Airship" because of the large number of airship workers who have married village girls during the 5 years the ship has been under construction.

Plan Trip to Canada.
The R-100 is propelled by gasoline motors instead of crude oil engines like the R-101. The latter was expected to make a voyage to Egypt and India, but the new ship, employing a more volatile fuel, is destined to make a trans-Atlantic flight to Canada, where mooring masts have already been prepared to receive it.

FATHER DENIES YOUNG NELSON WAS ENGAGED

Nicholas J. Nelson, 1920 Ardmore avenue, president of W. T. Nelson & Co., interior decorators, whose son Nicholas Jr., an actor, died of a skull fracture late Saturday incurred in a knock down fight in a New York speakeasy, denied yesterday a report that his son was engaged to wed Miss Thelma Moore. Miss Moore was with young Nelson Saturday night. She told the New York police she and Nelson had planned to marry today. She had identified herself as a traveling salesman and gave her address as the Hotel Morrison, Chicago.

Funeral services for the 23 year old bachelor will be held from the St. Jit church Tuesday morning. His body will arrive early today from New York.

MAIL PILOT ESCAPES DEATH WHEN PLANE FALLS IN MOUNTAINS

Phillipsburg, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Jack Webster, 36 year old veteran of the air mail service, was resting well in the state hospital here today after having beaten the "jinx" that lurks in the "graveyard of aviators"—the Allegheny mountains.

We were missing Saturday when the wreckage of his plane was discovered on the top of Rattlesnake mountain, 2,000 feet above sea level. An intensive search was started, and twenty-one hours after the crash Webster was found reclining along a highway leading to Phillipsburg by a party of local residents.

A shattered left arm and severe bruises on the head, chest, and other parts of the body were suffered by the pilot. He says he ran into snow and sleet and his ship grew heavy with ice clinging to the wings. He went above the clouds, reaching an altitude of 4,000 feet, and then started to fall. He said he would not check the loss of altitude or control the plane, and hit the mountain.

Turkish Premier Wins Solid Vote of Confidence

ANGORA, Turkey, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The government of Ismet Pasha, prime minister of Turkey, received a unanimous vote of confidence from parliament today. The vote was considered sufficient denial of recent rumors that Ismet Pasha would resign.

The Individuality of Oriental Rugs

There are no two Oriental Rugs that are just alike. Fashioned as they are, by hand... there is no uniformity to their mode of pattern or their combination of colors. Accordingly when you possess an Oriental Rug... you own an individualized floor covering. Nahigian Brothers collection at this time is particularly complete... and contains a number of very interesting values.

'I GOTTA DRAG' PARADISE LIES IN WASHINGTON

Try to Park Your Car and Find Out.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Members of the Washington chapter of the "I Gotta Drag" club, composed of politicians and their friends with rights denied to ordinary citizens, count among their most cherished membership privileges reserved automobile parking spaces around and near governmental buildings.

While the city council in Chicago has taken action to get rid of the "drag dukes," space grabbing privileges on Wacker drive and other thoroughfares, no such reform is in evidence in the national capital. Any motorist in Washington with the idea that public streets are for public use soon is reminded of his error by glaring "Reserved for Official Use" signs and sharp tongued policemen with orders to look after the "draggers."

Parking Space Galore.

In front of nearly every governmental building special parking space is reserved for the bureau heads and titled gentry who work inside. Some are marked by big yellow signs, some by letters painted white on the pavement, and others confined with chains and cables.

So much space around the capitol building is allotted to senators, representatives, and their friends that only the early birds among the nondescript members can get near. Often with only half the "I Gotta Drag club" space occupied, visiting motorists circle the building trying in vain to find a place to park.

A casual survey one day last week showed three limousines standing in a prized space below the steps on the east side of the building.

Two of them, a family car and a business car, belonged to Senator David Reed (Rep., Pa.) and the other to Senator Hiram Bingham (Rep., Conn.), a guardian policeman explained.

In response to a query he said: "O, yes, I keep this place open for the senators. They've always had it. Do I let any one else in? Positively not."

All of the parking space directly in front of the capitol is divided into stalls and marked "Reserved."

Moving west from the capitol an observer found numerous special parking signs cluttered around the buildings of the Smithsonian institution, the National museum, and the department of agriculture buildings. At the treasury and state, war and navy buildings conditions are the same, while along B street, northwest, near the navy building, the public is shut out of two entire blocks reserved for officials.

Car Emblems Galore.

Space grabbing is not the only privilege enjoyed by those whose political drag awes the local police force. Congressman Wholes adorns his car with a tag labeled "Congressional," while higher ranks in the drag club—members of the cabinet and their aids and families, army and navy and departmental bureau chiefs, prominent citizens, and members of the diplomatic corps—are identified to the police by special classes of automobile licenses, usually the "A" series. Diplomatic cars are specially marked with "Diplomatic" tags.

Washington's parking problem is one of growing proportions and one that frequently instigates long congressional hearings which result in all kinds of recommendations except that space grabbing by the "I. G. D. C." be done away with.

A report growing out of such a hearing has just been sent to the local traffic authorities by Senator Daniel O. Hastings (Rep., Del.), chairman of a senatorial subcommittee which called in two traffic experts to study a plan for more restrictions on the main downtown thoroughfares.

Traffic Director W. H. Harland has been directed to make a report on the plan, after which the subcommittee expects to hold more meetings.

Recuperate from Heart Attack at Football Game

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Berg Spalding, president of the University State Bank of Champaign, was resting easily today after being stricken with a heart attack while watching the Army-Illinois football game yesterday.

VICTOR EMANUEL, KING OF ITALY, 60 YEARS OLD TODAY

ROME, Nov. 10.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel III, Italy's "soldier king," tomorrow celebrates his sixtieth birthday, and his 42,000,000 subjects celebrate it with him. Tonight public buildings throughout the kingdom were festooned with flags, bunting, and strings of electric lights. Rome's commemoration began with a review of the capital's garrison, followed by parades of Fascist organizations.

With the Lateran treaties in operation, today's advance commemoration of the anniversary was participated in by the Catholic church in Italy in imposing fashion. The prayer, "For Victor, our king," in abeyance ever since the events of 1870, when the forces of Victor Emmanuel II. occupied Rome and put an end to the pope's temporal power, was intoned aloud by the clergy.

King Victor, rounding out the 59th year of his life and halfway through the 29th of his reign, will go down in history as the sovereign whose government effected the final solution of the "Roman question," and the resumption of normal relations between his kingdom and the holy see.

THE WEEPING MUSE

IS Modern Industrialism about to deal the Art of Music the saddest blow of its history?

To blame Machinery as an Instrument of Decadence may seem startling, but it is true that Machinery in the form of Canned Music is elbowing Real Music out of motion picture theatres, thus denying to the masses the cultural influence of a Fine Art.

Surely, if machine-made music displaces the artist in thousands of instances, the incentive for any individual to improve his talent—so necessary in all art—is minimized and music can no longer hold the cultural value that it has possessed. Any art is dependent for its progress upon the number of its enthusiastic exponents.

Do you, Mr. Reader, find the pleasure in Mechanical Music that you do in Real Music?

If you believe that Real Music should be saved to the masses who attend Motion Picture Theatres, make your opinion known to the manager of your favorite theatre. Very likely he will appreciate your frankness for he wants to please his patrons.

NORTH PACIFIC COAST GRAIN MEN ALL SET TO CO-OP

First to Complete Plans, Which Are Approved.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—The federal farm board today in carrying out its relief program for wheat farmers, it approved the grain marketing plan of the new million dollar North Pacific Grain Growers' Cooperative association.

This was the first of the big wheat cooperatives to complete its plans for doing business through the Farmers' National Grain corporation, the national marketing agency recently established by the board as a medium through which to loan up to 100 million dollars. The North Pacific group's plans, it was said at the board offices, will be a model for other cooperatives to follow.

The association is comprised of local farmer-owned elevator, warehouse and other grain handling associations in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and western Montana. Similar organizations in the central states are expected to submit plans to the farm board soon.

Organization of the North Pacific association was effected two weeks ago by a committee headed by F. J. Wilmer, Rosalia, Wash., assisted by W. A. Schoenfeld, board representative in the northwest, George O. Gatlin and W. J. Kuhrt, the board's marketing specialists.

Incorporated in Delaware.

Final approval was given to the plans at a meeting of the association at Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 30, and articles of incorporation were adopted and submitted for the farm board's approval. As a result of today's favorable action by the board, the papers will be filed at Wilmington, Del., at once. The organization is a miniature of the National corporation. It will be a cooperative stock corporation, with a capital stock of $1,000,000 consisting of 50,000 shares at $20 a share. Stock will be sold to local associations on the basis of the average volume handled annually. Each share of stock will have one vote.

This regional corporation will subscribe for its pro rata share of the capital stock of the National corporation and will be entitled to nominate and elect directors to serve on the National board.

Rules of Local Association.

"Where no farmer owned local association exists, a new local organization is to be formed by all interested farmers in the community," the farm board statement explained. "This association will be a cooperative stock concern, which will subscribe for its pro rata share of the capital of the regional association."

"The local association will be responsible for the local warehousing of the grain of its members, either through new buildings or by purchasing or leasing privately owned facilities or by contracting with agencies for the handling of grain until physical facilities may be acquired.

"As soon as practicable after organization of the regional association, attempt will be made through the local associations to obtain as many signers as possible to the standard marketing contract between the grower and his local association, requiring delivery of the grain to the local association on a triple option basis. These options are: (1) Sale upon day's price prevailing at time of delivery; (2) Deferred sale with storage privilege with definite time limit; and (3) Seasonal pooling basis.

Provides Withdrawal Period.

"The contract will operate for an indefinite period, but provides for a two weeks' annual withdrawal period. Contracts will also be drawn up between each local association and the regional organization requiring delivery of all grain received and a contractual arrangement effected between the regional and the Farmers' National Grain corporation covering the handling and sale of all grain by the latter."

"In operation the plan contemplates that contract signers will deliver all their grain to the local warehouse facilities provided, to be handled upon the three optional basis given the growers at the time of delivery."

"If the grower elects to sell it on the day's basis, or deferred basis, he will receive the day's local market price, less any storage charges accrued. If he elects to use the seasonal pool he will receive, when such pools are closed, the average pool price, less a local handling charge, plus other marketing expenses. Such contracts are to be so drawn that the signer will be eligible for advances on storage tickets through the intermediate credit bank.

"Producers who do not execute the marketing agreement may deliver grain to the local warehouse association and sell it upon the usual day's local market basis or place it in storage for later sale. If they are stockholders in the local association they will participate in its earnings, but will not be eligible for advances on storage tickets."

"The local elevator or warehouse association will receive from the regional association, wherever needed, assistance in financing its daily operations in grain and also fixed capital loans. In return the local association will contract to deliver all the grain it receives, either contract grain or purchased grain, to the regional association. The local association will deliver all pooled grain received, and sell all purchased grain received, to the regional association."

"The regional will deliver all pooled grain to the Farmers' National Grain corporation for sale by the latter. The regional will sell all grain purchased by it from local to the Farmers' National Grain corporation on the day's market basis."

TRAINMAN SPEEDS RELIEF TO HIS OWN COUGH!

MR. F. W. CLIFFORD

Finds REM route fastest way

Mr. F. W. Clifford of 174 Franklin St., Portland, Maine, is a trainman on the Maine Central, and railroading in Maine in the winter is no easy job. One winter while working on a freight train, he caught a very bad cough. He tried first one thing and then another—but without any results. Then he dropped in at Holland's Drug Store at Oxford and Mayo St., and asked them to recommend a good cough remedy. The druggist suggested REM and Mr. Clifford reports, "I'm glad to say it relieved my cough in a short time. REM's quick action in relieving a cough has delighted thousands. It is due, in part, to the fact that it clings to your throat and spreads a soothing, healing film, bringing quicker relief. Find that out for yourself!"

MARY'S MOTHER FINALLY FINDS RIGHT THING

MARY MULLINS

Relieves obstinate cough with REM

After Mary Mullins of 176½ S. Pearl St., Albany, N. Y., recovered from whooping cough, she had trouble with bronchial coughs from time to time. Her mother tried various things to relieve her, but didn't get on the right track until she asked a clerk in Gaus' Drug Store at Pearl and Western about REM. He said it was good for children as well as grown-ups, and Mrs. Mullins bought a bottle. REM relieved Mary's cough at once and she got a good night's sleep—the first for several nights. Mrs. Mullins is convinced that "REM is a great remedy for coughs"—and that's what it is. REM isn't a "cure-all." It's not good for anything but a cough—but how remarkably good it is for that! Be sure to ask for REM.

REM is quicker. Clings to the throat. Starts relief immediately

DRUGGIST PICKS REM FOR HIS OWN COUGH

MR. A. MATERA, JR.

Explains why he chooses it

Mr. A. Matera, Jr., is a druggist at 8196 Baxter Ave., Elmhurst, N. Y., and has a whole storeful of various remedies at his disposal. Therefore it is interesting and significant that he chooses REM when he himself has a cough. Mr. Matera says: "REM is a very good expectorant, loosens the phlegm in the throat, soothes the tissues, and promptly checks the coughing." This prompt action of REM is partly due to a special ingredient not found in ordinary cough remedies. Though harmless itself, it helps produce the quick soothing effect so noticeable when REM is swallowed. Then he adds: "It's an easy remedy to give children because they like to take it, and I've noticed that it always does all that is claimed for it."

HIGH VOLTAGE WIRE RUINS RADIO, JUDGE FILES SUIT

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 10.—(AP)—High voltage electric wires of the Interstate Power company have been playing havoc with Judge W. L. Eichendorfer's

"peaceable enjoyment of a radio in his home," he alleges in a suit filed here to enjoin further interference. Interference has been such that the judge's home at McGreger, Ind., has been deprived of the use of his radio for the last two years, says his petition, which asks an unspecified amount of damages for the prolonged loss.

JACK & JEAN JOHNSON

THIN REM brought grateful relief

Jack and "Billy Jean" Johnson of 2705 Wood Ave., Kansas City, used to get bad coughs each winter, and their mother was more or less resigned to losing several nights' sleep whenever a cough arrived. When she saw a REM ad and bought a bottle at Reynolds' Drug Store at 28th and Garfield, now she stops her children's coughs before they have a chance to get a good start. "We get more sleep than any winter before," she adds. "Restless nights don't do coughs any good, and many a person has REM to thank for a good night's sleep. If REM doesn't relieve your cough quickly, your druggist is authorized to give you money back. The fact that not one in a thousand ever wanted it back tells a story as convincing as Mrs. Johnson's."

SPEAKS FOR FAMILY ON IMPORTANT SUBJECT

MRS. J. M. SULLIVAN

REM unanimous choice for coughs

The first that Mrs. J. M. Sullivan of 3113 Hillcrest Ave., Cleveland, knew about REM was when her brother told her about it. It had ended a bad cough for him and he thought it would do as much for her. It did. And it went even further. As Mrs. Sullivan herself puts it: "My mother, father, husband and myself all get coughs at times during the winter, but the bottle of REM we keep in the house always relieves us and we wouldn't be without it." Simple coughs usually yield to a single bottle, and that is why REM is so economical, despite the fact that it contains a special ingredient too costly for ordinary cough syrups. If REM doesn't relieve you promptly, your druggist is authorized to return your money. What could be fairer than that?

MOTHER DISCOVERS -- DAUGHTER PROFITS

FLORENCE DRUMMOND

Finds REM brings quick cough relief

The Drummond family of 1322 Watson Ave., St. Paul, Minn., enjoy good health at most times, but coughs do come their way occasionally. Mrs. Drummond, one time, was suffering from a bad cough when a kindly neighbor recommended REM. To Mrs. Drummond's delight, REM relieved her almost at once and I've had a good word for it ever since. Later on when little Florence got a cough, what more natural than that her mother should remember her own happy experience with REM. And once again REM "made good" in the Drummond family. So it goes. When one member of a family once tries REM, it usually isn't long before it's the regular cough medicine for the whole household. Try it for yourself!

REM's exclusive formula explains its splendid results. Economical, too!

For New Skin Beauty Use a Healing Toilet Cream —Say Scores of Nurses

AMONG the million and a half women who are now using this new kind of toilet cream, there are thousands of trained nurses. They are enthusiastic—they tell their friends to use it. Their training has taught them what the skin needs to keep it healthy and beautiful.

Science now recognizes that many of the common skin faults come from tiny hidden poisons that lurk unseen beneath the skin. Blemishes, roughness, large pores, coarseness and many other beauty-destroying flaws are now traced to these invisible poisons.

Ordinary care is not enough. Soaps and creams that merely cleanse the surface fail to reach these insidious poisons. An antiseptic cream is necessary—a precious healing cream that will sink into the skin, combat poisons, keep the skin gas-free, healthy and beautiful.

As snow-white and dainty as the finest beauty cream, yet as powerfully healing as an old-fashioned medicine, Noxzema Skin Cream can be used as a powder base or night cream. Under its soothing, healing medication, skin troubles vanish quickly and your skin becomes clearer, smoother, lovelier.

Noxzema Cream is on sale at all drug and department stores.

WHEN IS FARM CO-OP A MILK SERVICE AGENCY?

East and West to Decide at St. Paul Session.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Troubles are pouring out of the Ohio and Pennsylvania fluid milk markets, with indications that nearly every cooperative milk producers' association east of the Mississippi may be involved.

The issue of whether a farmers' organization rightly constitutes a bargaining and service agency to stabilize quality and price of milk in city markets, or whether farmers will find it necessary to attempt distribution as well as production, is expected to be settled behind closed doors at St. Paul, Minn., on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

At the close of a two day session of Pittsburgh's milk producers here, leaders entrained with others from all principal northeast markets for the National Cooperative Milk Producers' meeting.

That Cleveland Loan.

Several of these farm leaders say that besides the main issue already mentioned, consideration will be given to the attitude of the federal farm board in lending to cooperative milk marketing associations. In view of the predicament created by its loan in Cleveland to a farmers' small cooperative, not controlling the local production.

As a result of the Cleveland situation, 1,300 milk producers belonging to the Pittsburgh Dairymen's Cooperative Sales company have been notified to continue shipping their milk to Cleveland instead of to Pittsburgh. A contract is expected to be signed with Telling Belle Vernon company in Cleveland, next Friday.

"Until some responsible cooperative bargaining association is organized in northern Ohio, these Pittsburgh association members will continue to belong to our association," said a spokesman for the Pittsburgh producers. "These farmers are closer to Cleveland than to Pittsburgh, but until the advent of good roads have been obliged to ship to Pittsburgh because of limited railroad facilities."

Here Are Six Basic Policies.
Six basic policies of a dairy farmers' cooperative were adopted by the producers in session here Thursday and Friday. It is understood these policies will be the center of a lively discussion at the national meeting in St. Paul Monday.

1. Farmers shall bargain with dealers as to price, and no open break shall be considered until an arbitrator has been called in.

2. The farmers' association shall control the transporting of its members' milk from farm to market.

3. Retail dealers should be permitted a fair margin for efficient operation, but not beyond that point.

(Margin to depend on labor, equipment, growth of city, and civic health requirements.)

Area of Production.

4. Boundaries of the milk shed area of production shall be limited to a producing area large enough to adequately care for market needs at all times, discouraging territory development that brings in surplus milk.

5. Retail milk prices should be the highest it is possible to procure based on supply and demand, but giving consideration to production and marketing costs regardless.

6. Farmers should strive to build organizations with policies and management so sound economically as to enlist respect and support of all producers in the market and hold that support.

Represent 2,600 Farmers.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Officers of the Equity Cooperative Milk association in Cleveland have indicated they are in touch with the Pittsburgh farmers' organization, as well as associations in northern Ohio, to attempt the formation of a new cooperative producers' bargaining association to represent the 7,000 farmers now shipping into Cleveland, where a milk price war has forced retail prices to 11 cents per quart.

A telegram was received from the federal farm board's publicity agent stating that W. F. Schilling, dairy manager of the board, who approved the $400,000 loan to the Ohio Farmers' Milk association in October, never had been employed by that association. Schilling was hired by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce to make a "50 a day survey" in 1925, and at that time had recommended equipping of the modern milk plant that is now the center of fire of dealers and farmers, and to save which the farm board made its emergency loan.

Once Dairy Manager.

Mr. Schilling formerly was in the milk business in Cleveland. He was manager for a time of the City Co-op dairy, organized by milk driver union employees, and financed until its going out of business largely by union interests. He has spoken at milk producers' meetings frequently in the Cleveland area in recent years, and is said to have told representatives of independent dealers that he was quite familiar with the Cleveland fluid milk market.

R. W. Strong, manager of the farmers' cooperative that got $50,000 of the farm board loan before more rigid requirements were imposed as to security and management, expected to be called to Washington later this week to meet farm board representatives regarding the situation.

SEEK TWO YOUTHS FOR LAKE VIEW BANK ROBBERY

Two youths, one described as slightly built and with light hair and blue eyes, were being sought by Chicago police yesterday as the perpetrators of the $31,000 robbery of the Lake View Trust and Savings bank, Belmont and Ashland avenues, early Saturday night.

The bandits, in sight of two uniformed guards armed with shotguns, smashed a window just as the bank was closing for the evening, climbed through, grabbed the money and hopped nimbly out again, driving away as two of the bank's clerks opened fire.

An automobile identified as that used by the bandits was found several hours later abandoned in front of 3728 Bowdoin street. It was stolen several days ago from Dr. Isadore B. Diamond, 2411 North Kedzie avenue, according to Town Hall police. Two shotguns carried by the robbers were found in the car.

KEEP CLEANING PLANTS CLOSED FOR NEGOTIATION

Confession between the representatives of the Master Cleaners and Dyers' association, their locked out union employees and the mediators will be continued at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and the expected opening of the city's cleaning and dyeing plants on either a union or open shop basis has been postponed until further notice.

The mediators and others trying to iron out the differences held a 13 hour meeting on Saturday and the several groups met among themselves yesterday. It was expected that today's meetings and discussions might bring some definite agreement.

Besides the lockout itself, the mediators are trying to settle the dispute over the $1,500,000 cleaning plant that is under construction by Ben Albert, alias Abrams, head of the 2,500 union employees affected by the lockout.

Announcement . . . .

The prices of Zenith Radio Receivers will not be reduced. The forced sale of distress merchandise at cut prices proves conclusively that the public has refused to purchase partially developed, inefficient screen grid sets . . . that radio buyers have refused to accept the obsolete non-screen grid type radio of last year's vintage.

The public has judged and, as we anticipated, distress stocks are the result.

No radio manufacturer is powerful enough to force obsolete radio on the public even at present cut prices.

Zenith radio receivers are fairly, justly, and honestly priced. The quality put into them, together with genuine Automatic Tuning, precludes their being sold for less money.

Zenith has no distress merchandise and will maintain its position in the industry. More Zeniths are being bought than ever before in Zenith's history.

When you buy a Zenith radio receiver, you are getting greater dollar for dollar value . . . in quality, design, construction and performance, in year ahead development and in lasting worth . . . than in any other radio.

Life looks rosy for him

Health worth more than fortune

THE baby to be envied is the one who is born with an inheritance of perfect health, to begin with. And who's lucky enough to have a mother who knows how to build up this fortune.

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned," she'll say to the doctor who pronounces her child physically 100% at a baby show, "but this health certificate means more to me than all the stock certificates in the world. If my baby grows up strong and well, I'm willing to leave it to him to make a career and fortune for himself."

"Already I'm teaching him the value of regular habits. Regular sleep, regular meals, regular functions. He's never once been off schedule, not even when he was cutting teeth or traveling to the country. I make sure of that by giving him Nujol regularly. He has his own bottle in the nursery."

Nujol works so easily and naturally that it won't upset a baby under any condition. It keeps everything functioning properly. It not only prevents any excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming but aids in their removal. It is safe and sure. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York.

Just try Nujol for your baby. Give it to him regularly for the next three months. See if it doesn't make things much easier for both of you. See if he doesn't thrive on this new schedule—(children themselves much prefer living by regular routine).

Heir to millions

Here's another thing: Nurses are advising mothers to give their babies an oil rub with Nujol after the daily bath, instead of using powder. Just saturate some cotton with Nujol and rub it gently all over your baby's body. It keeps him from getting chapped and chafed. And leaves his skin as soft and smooth as velvet. Use it when you change his clothes. Whenever his skin has been exposed to irritation.

A bottle of Nujol costs you no more than pink ribbons on the baby's bonnet. And it's worth a lot more to him! Try it. Certainly it could do no harm—for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. Your druggist carries it. Be sure you get the genuine. Sold only in sealed packages, never in bulk.

LOBBY INQUIRY TO STOP SHORT OF PROMISES?

Caraway Hints End, with Tariff Alone on Grill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Capitol circles continued to buzz today with amazement over the assertion of Senator T. H. Caraway (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the senate lobby investigating committee, that the lobby inquiry begun less than a month ago will be completed "long before" congress convenes in regular session on Dec. 2.

Inquiry discloses that with the possible exception of a few witnesses as to the activities of the sugar tariff lobby, the committee has no definite program beyond Tuesday, when C. A. Buck, a vice president of the Bethlehem Steel company, is to be questioned about the influence which led the senate finance committee to put manganese on the free list.

There is, it is indicated, to be one of the "most comprehensive and searching investigation ever undertaken" promised by Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.).

Predicts Early Finish.
"All we want is a cross section of these lobbies and we've got that, or will have it when we finish with the manganese lobby, a few sugar lobbyists and perhaps some witnesses on the efforts in opposition to government operation of Muscle Shoals," declared Senator Caraway, predicting the committee would be through "long before" the end of the month.

No one has been found to contend that the less than a score of witnesses examined by the committee thus far represent a fair "cross section" of the more than 200 organizations lobbying in one way or another on tariff legislation alone. And under the Caraway program hundreds of other lobbies—church boards, wet and dry organizations, pacifist groups and others who, it is estimated, collect millions a year to bludgeon congress into line for or against legislation—are to escape unscathed from an inquiry.

It has been pointed out that in addition to its failure to require every known lobbyist in Washington to at least make some showing of his activities by response to a questionnaire, the Caraway committee has contented itself thus far by probing only those lobbyists whose activities were directed toward higher protective duties.

Only Tariff Lobbies.
It went thoroughly into the employment of C. L. Eyanson, representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association by Senator Bingham (Rep., Conn.), and it spent days examining Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, high tariff lobbyist. It spent six consecutive days grilling James A. Arnold, capital representative for three organizations.

But there is no present intention, according to Senator Caraway's announcement, of investigating the lobbies maintained by importers; no subpoenas have been issued for officials of the Anti-Saloon league, the Methodist church board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, the association against the prohibition amendment or even the national council for the prevention of war.

Senator Caraway's announcement is being generally interpreted as a complete corroboration of the charge—made by Senator Bingham—that Senator Norris deliberately packed the lobby investigating committee with anti-administration senators bent on wrecking the tariff bill.

Lyons Resident Vanishes;
Kidnaping Feared by Wife

The police of Lyons and Rogers Park yesterday started an investigation of the disappearance of George Russell, 7335 West 40th street, Lyons, after his wife expressed the fear that he had been kidnaped and slain. Mrs. Russell said her husband has been having trouble over a real estate lease and left his home on Saturday morning to consult a real estate agent in Chicago.

TRADE GROUP TO CELEBRATE 25TH BIRTHDAY DEC. 12

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Chicago Association of Commerce will be celebrated on Dec. 12 with a silver anniversary banquet at the Palmer house, according to an announcement last night by Charles Ward Seabury, president.

Walter Gifford of New York, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, will be the principal speaker. Others who will sit at the speakers' table are Secretary of War Good, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, and all of the living past presidents of the association, including William R. Dawes, Frank F. Winans, Edward E. Gore, John W. O'Leary, David Forgan, Harry A. Wheeler, Joseph R. Noel, Lucius Teeter, Richard C. Hall, Howard Eiling, Judson F. Stone, and Edward M. Skinner.

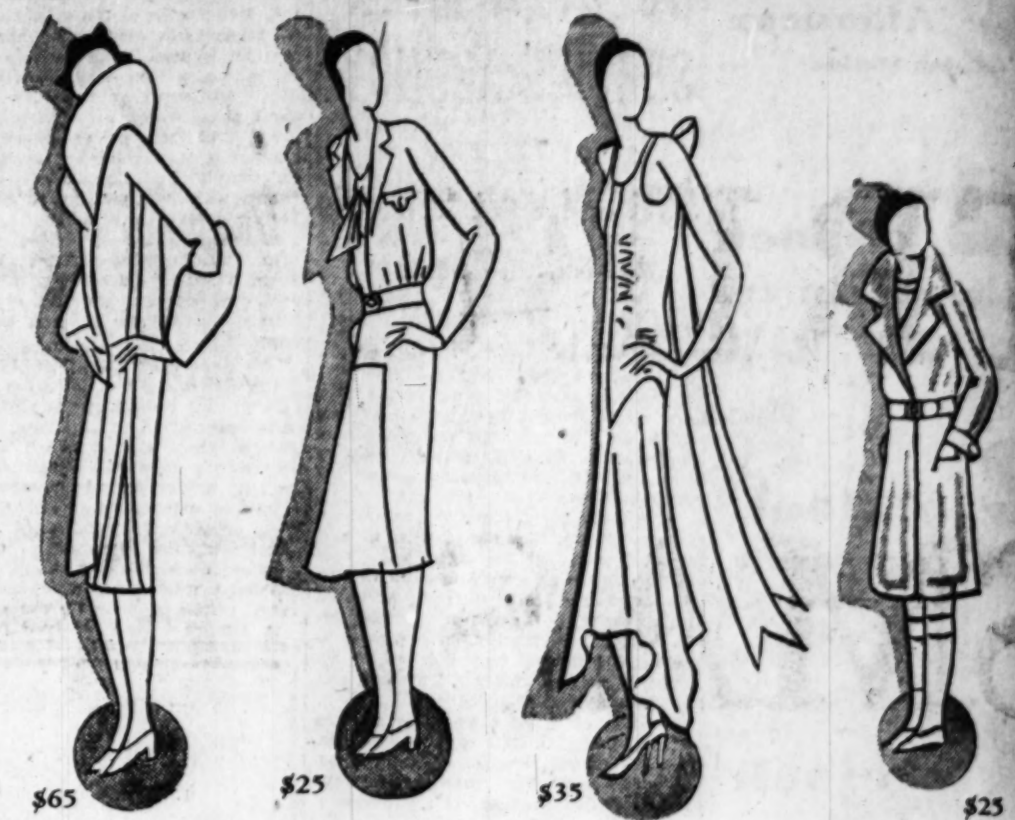

William Butterworth, president of the United States chamber of commerce, will head a delegation representing the chambers of a number of large cities.

INCREASED WAGE SCALE IS WON BY JOB PRINTERS

An agreement was reached yesterday between Typographical Union No. 16 and commercial printing concerns on a new wage scale. The settlement gives day workers a raise from $54 to $57 per week, and night men a raise from $58 to $60 per week. The contract is to run for five years, and provides that during the last 18 months a five day week shall be effective. A trying out of the five day week will be made during the months of June, July, and August of the years 1931 and 1932, making the five day week effective two years of the five year contract.

BUGLAR CAUGHT WITH LOOT.
Monroe Lawson, 2948 Cottage Grove avenue, colored, ransacked the home of Arthur Birkholz, 630 Ferdinand avenue, Forest Park, yesterday while the family was away and was walking out with jewelry valued at $500 when he ran into the arms of a policeman who had been called by a neighbor.

The Clickety-Clack Face

{ THE PRODUCT OF NERVOUS TENSION }

Have you that work-weary look . . . that clickety-clack expression so often worn by stenographers who operate rackety typewriters?

"Stenographer Face" has already had scientific recognition. Industrial health investigators have found that typists are afflicted with ill health more often than any other class of office workers.

For it is typewriter clatter that compels office managers to segregate typists into poorly ventilated rooms . . . typewriter clatter that draws telltale crow's-feet on lovely complexions and steals away the bloom of youth.

In place of that hammer-blow typewriter you are now using, you are entitled to a "piano" touch REMINGTON NOISELESS. The same 4-row standard keyboard you have always used, but a lighter touch, enabling you to do better work, faster . . . with less effort and . . . NO NOISE.

Typewriter racket is no pleasanter to your office manager than to you. Tell him you want a REMINGTON NOISELESS Machine and he will help you get it, in the interest of the business as well as in kindness to you. # 50,000 FAMILIES will seek apartment homes during November and December!

ONLY a few years ago, practically everybody who moved did so late in either April or September. May 1 and October 1 marked the limits of the renting seasons—and the peak of moving congestion and trouble.

Now people move in great numbers during the months following the old "moving days." Landlords and rental agents with vacant flats or new buildings find thousands of prospective tenants in Chicago and suburbs. Last year in November and December more than 38,000 families moved. This year the Chicago Homes Economic Council estimates the number will total more than 50,000 families in the same period!

You can bring these late movers to your buildings! They're watching Tribune columns—Chicago's most complete rental directory—for new homes. With a Tribune Want Ad you can offer your apartment to practically every prospective tenant in Chicago. Keep your buildings filled during the slack winter season! It's cheaper to advertise! Year after year the circulation of the Tribune has forged ahead, steadily building greater sales power for advertisers, until today it stands out incontestably as the most efficient selling power to cover this great market. In the last ten years daily Tribune circulation has doubled. Readers in constantly growing numbers give eloquent testimony to Tribune editorial excellence and the remarkable appeal it has for Chicago and the Central States. The Chicago territory has been rich in possibilities for expansion. No pace has been too fast for the Tribune. Others may falter or settle into mediocrity but Tribune growth marches with time. New records lie ahead. The Tribune, driving on with the tremendous force of the area, is on its way to new levels of accomplishment. Advertisers in the Tribune today command the most responsive buying power in the world. ## Junior League Gets Big Hand from Children

BY THALIA

Applauds and gurgles of mirth accompanied the meek of applause earned by the Junior League Theatricals in their first children's theater performance of "The Patchwork Girl of Oz" Saturday morning at the Harris Theater, although the adults in the audience were enjoying themselves as much as the juveniles they accompanied.

The play, dramatized by Mrs. J. Walter Marshall from the old familiar fairy tale, is sprightly and diverting; the scenery, designed by Mrs. Philip Maher, and the costumes designed by Mrs. Maher and Mrs. Charles O'Connor Jr., are delightfully fantastic, and Helen Rand's music for the incidental songs and songs is appropriately and beautifully keyed to the action.

On the Unlucky, played by Mrs. Woodford Platt in a bright blue dress suit and peaked hat, was the little boy whose quest for the charms to free Uncle Nunkie (Gudith Walsh) from the magician's spell resulted in a series of amusing adventures on the road to the Emerald City of Oz.

Virginia Shinkle as the Glass Cat with pink boots that you could see work, was a great hit, and the audience was blissfully unaware of the propriety of her leaping suit to come apart where it was adhesively joined together.

Marion McKinley's staid interpretation of Scarecrow, the patchwork girl in the brightly colored frock of remnants, was enthusiastically received, and the young ones loved the Woody Goggles (Lakins), whose eyes shot fire when he was properly enraged, the Wise Donkey with the temperamental ears, played graphically by Elaine Blackman, George Lucy's Scarecrow, and Miss Jensen's expressive Sawhorse.

Mrs. Alfred Stevenson as Princess Ozma, Dorothy, played by Mrs. Howard Peaslee; the Wizard of Oz, played by Mrs. Henry Field, Margaret Smith's Jack Pumpkinhead, the Tottentoes, and Mrs. Boyd Hill as the Tin Woodman, were others whose performance elicited approval from the youngsters, who didn't mind even the inter-scene bits that were inevitable to a first presentation.

The St. Luke's benefit fashion show held on Oct. 22 at the Stevens hotel netted the women's board approximately $29,000 for its charitable work, the results having been just completed after all the reports came in. The sum would not have been realized, however, if many of the committee workers had not taken into themselves the defraying of much of the expense that fell to their respective groups.

The medleys who displayed their wares in the show must have profited thereby, also, as several of the costumes exhibited are now being worn by the town's fashionable women. I heard that one gown, numerous copies of which were demanded immediately after the show, was seen on 4 different women attending the same luncheon one day.

The annual meeting of the "Anti-Quackery" society of the Art Institute is to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the clubroom of the institute. Immediately after the meeting the directors for the coming year will meet.

Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. George T. Langhorne, and Mrs. William G. Hibbard are making the arrangements for the luncheon to be given by the American Friends of China for Dr. Stanley K. Harnack at the Palmer house on Monday, Nov. 18.

Mrs. Hugh J. McIlroney, who is at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, is planning to go west when the season begins to wane in January. She will accompany her daughter, Mrs. Henry Hume Jr. of New York City, and the latter child, who it is hoped will benefit from the California climate.

Oct. and Mrs. Noble B. Judah are expected to come in town for the winter, apparently because their country estate appeals to them more, and so they'll stay out in Lake Forest through the hunting season (although Old Judah is out of the running just now) and into the winter for a time before they go down to Cuba for a visit to renew the pleasant associations they formed during their stay there.

While most of society is fortifying itself against the prospect of several months of activity, the George E. Myers of the Drake are planning to be here for only a short while before going out to California and the sunnier reaches of their ranch near Santa Ana, where the world's largest orange and pear are supposed to grow. They are remaining in Chicago through this month to be near Mr. Myers' mother, who has been ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. of St. Louis are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Orion of Waukegan and their three sons, Paul, Henry, Kimball Jr., and Philip Allen, moved into their new residence in Indian Hill estates. The house is a copy of the ancestral home of Mrs. Orion at Pittsfield, N. H. That was built before the revolution. A historic housepiece taken from an inn that served travelers of the pre-revolutionary era is in the living room, and in the dining room is an original Dutch oven from Worcester, Mass.

Making World Better Work for Churches, Dr. Burton Asserts

The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Burton of New York, general secretary of the national council of the Congregational churches, speaking at the closing services of the dedication program of the new Des Plaines Congregational church yesterday, declared that the one task of the churches is to improve the life of God into the life of men.

"To the question, is not the church's main function fulfilled in feeding the poor?" I answer, "No," Dr. Burton said. "To feed the poor to the neglect of breathing the life of God into the life of men means increased hunger, through the lack of men of character who shall see that society, industry, and civic institutions are such as to make poverty impossible and adequate care for the unfortunate certain."

The closing service of the dedication program was called a Congregational fellowship service. Dr. Burton as secretary of the national council, brought the greetings of 5,000 churches within the denomination.

Mary Garden Says Love Little Interests the Modern Women

Where is the woman today who is capable of inspiring great love? asks Mary Garden, back home yesterday for the opera season. Is there a modern woman who lives for love and love alone?

Mary thinks not. To Mary Garden, who has sung of love for many years, the great loves of yesterday are buried in the pages of history. Where could burn today the love of Cleopatra for her Antony or of Helen for her Paris? she asks. Modern woman, and especially American woman, is too calculating, according to Mary. She has tasted of freedom.

In her apartment at the Lake Shore Drive hotel the operatic star talked of the opera she will usher in next January, "Camille," by Hamilton Forst.

"Can a modern woman, sensible and self-sufficient, give herself up to a great love?" she asked. "No, and that is why, although the opera score is most modern and the setting modern, there will be a splash of the costumes of Camille's day in my otherwise modern dress. If it were all modern, Camille could not be what she is."

"Women today do not live for love. They work for their living. They do not inspire men, and they do not care whether they do or not. O, that is what hurts the men! They have been given the gift of the walk for too long to resent the fact that women today can live without love."

"Still," she smiled and gave a little gesture—"women are not wholly free. I wonder if they ever will be. Perhaps, in fifty years, they may be. They may not care about love at all then."

Then Mary's chin shot up, her eyes flashed. "O, I do not like the past!" she cried.

"After all, it is fine that women do no longer love as they did. It will be even finer if they can win absolute freedom. Formerly we were under the man's heel. Now just his little toe is on us. Yet how conscious we are of that little toe!"

She glanced down at her slim legs, increased in white stockings, and at her narrow feet, in black slippers.

Then Mary's chin shot up, her eyes flashed. "O, I do not like the past!" she cried.

PLANS FOR NEW POSTOFFICE ARE NEARLY READY

Architects Call for More Specifications.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The local architects of the new $15,000,000 Chicago postoffice, have notified the treasury department that the designs for the new building will be submitted for approval on Feb. 1, 1930, if the postoffice department furnishes the last of its specifications by Jan. 1.

Whether the postoffice authorities will be able to supply the architects with all the material they need to complete the designs by the first of the year is problematical, Frank E. McMillan, superintendent of the division of postoffice and engineering, said today that every effort will be made to complete the government's part of the preliminary planning by that time.

"There has been no abnormal delay on the part of the postoffice department," Mr. McMillan asserted in response to a query. "The Chicago postoffice will be the biggest one in the country. The task of arranging the plans for six floors is a big one."

"We have had a dozen men working on the Chicago project for several months, and we will keep them at it until it is completed. We have to inform the architects just where we want machinery installed and how we expect to utilize the floor space assigned us. We hope to have our part of the work finished by Jan. 1, but it may take some time longer."

"The architects' designs, as soon as submitted to the supervising architect's office in the treasury department, will be thoroughly gone over for possible alterations."

"Once the designs are approved, then the treasury's architects will prepare the working drawings. It is probable that several months will elapse after the design work is completed before the working drawings are in such shape that contracts can be asked for and construction work on the basement begun."

FORM ADVISORY TO ASSIST POLICE IN SAFETY WORK

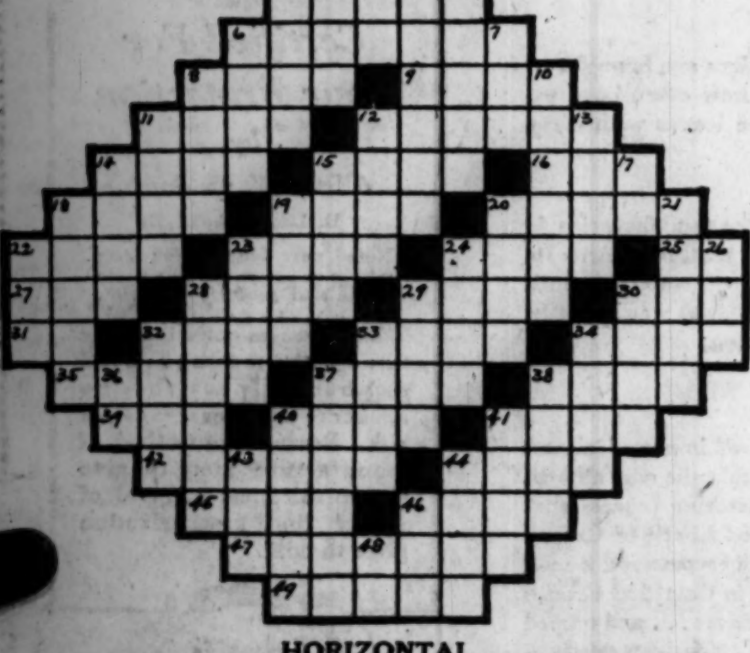

Formation of the Chicago safety and educational committee to advise police on traffic problems was announced yesterday by Police Commissioner Russell.

At the inaugural meeting the committee advised the commissioner to continue for another week his departmental drive to enforce the law governing display of license plates and prohibiting glaring lights. The commission also recommended a two week campaign, beginning Nov. 18, to compel motorists to observe safety zones.

Commissioner Russell was elected president ex officio of the commission, comprising the following members: Elmer E. Stevens, chairman; Col. A. Sprague, vice chairman; G. G. Travers, executive secretary; Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court; Sidney Williams, Robert N. Leonard, G. E. Wardman, A. M. Thomas J. Bowler, City Traffic Engineer Leslie I. Sorenson, Supt. George T. Donoghue of the south park board, Edward C. Delaporte, and Maj. John Bauer.

Dr. Monsen, Scientist, Is Dead of Pneumonia
Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. Frederick Monsen, noted anthropologist and a fellow of the Royal Geographical society, died suddenly in the Pasadena hospital tonight, stricken with pneumonia while returning to his home here from Chicago, where he had been lecturing, he was rushed to the hospital last night.

New Orchestra Concerts Find a Friend in Elmer

He Applauds Entry of Guest Conductors.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
The New York concert featuring Reinald Werrenrath, baritone, and Arthur Bodansky, guest conductor, through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15, was perhaps the newest among yesterday's many choice programs. On this concert a big aria from Wagner's "Meistersinger," sung in German, and a charming aria from Arthur Sullivan's grand opera, "Ivanhoe," sung in English, established Mr. Werrenrath as a radio grand opera singer in the grand style and with an enthusiasm that any singer might envy.

Mr. Werrenrath's grand opera, "Ivanhoe," sung in English, established Mr. Werrenrath as a radio grand opera singer in the grand style and with an enthusiasm that any singer might envy.

Mr. Werrenrath's grand opera, "Ivanhoe," sung in English, established Mr. Werrenrath as a radio grand opera singer in the grand style and with an enthusiasm that any singer might envy.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, through W-G-N, 2 to 3 o'clock, was enjoyable. The program included two movements from Schubert's Symphony No. 16, and this second hearing of the work further inclines me to it. The selections from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" were fine words. "Midsummer Wake" (1929) was a peach, a scream. Thanks for that one. Please repeat it.

The Armistice day memorial service yesterday morning at St. Chrysostom's church, through W-G-N, was impressive. It was good again to hear the new famous organ of this church. The mellow, cello-toned organ broadcasts beautifully. The choir's many style of singing was much appreciated.

Bomb Wrecks Ulster Club; Shatters Nearby Windows
LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—An explosion which the police attributed to a bomb, partly wrecked the Northern Counties club here this evening. The windows in neighboring buildings were shattered.

TRADE GROWTH NOW BETTERING PRE-WAR PACE

1928 World Exports Near 33 Billions.

According to an increase of almost a billion dollars in the export trade of 1928 over that of 1927, at current money values, the fourth annual American Day Accounting of International Trade, issued by the National Foreign Trade Council, shows a steady growth of the world's exports and a rate of annual increase slightly greater than that prevailing before the war.

The advance in the world's foreign trade since 1925 is fully 15 per cent, or an average annual increase of 5 per cent. Between 1900 and 1913 the aggregate growth of the world's exports was about 43 per cent, or slightly less than 5 per cent per year.

The latest figures for 31 nations whose trade represents 95 per cent of current international commerce, place the world's 1928 exports at $32,444,000,000, equivalent to $2,847,000,000 at the 1913 value of the dollar. This compares with 1913 exports for these same nations of $30,045,000,000. They reached their present level after a year of decline in 1927, when exports of $29,444,000,000, increased to $32,444,000,000 in 1928 and to $32,847,000,000 in 1929. All the council's figures have been adjusted to the 1913 value of the dollar in order to provide a genuine comparison free from factors of inflation.

Three Nations Lead.

The restoration of the world to its pre-war rate of progress in export growth is largely due to the export trade developments since 1925 of three nations—Germany, the United States and Canada. Within the past three years Germany has outstripped all other nations in the advance of her exports. In 1925 they were valued at $1,414,000,000, reckoned at the 1913 value of the dollar. In 1928 they reached $2,093,000,000, a gain of $679,000,000, or almost 50 per cent.

The increase of the United States in the last three years has also been notable, amounting from $2,147,000,000 in 1925, at the rate of the 1913 dollar, to $2,847,000,000 in 1928, a gain of $700,000,000 or about 33 per cent. Canada has increased her exports in this period by $162,000,000, from $191,000,000 to $353,000,000, or about 85 per cent.

The three nations whose total advance since 1913 are the greatest in amount are the same as were recorded last year. The United States exports increased between 1913 and 1928 by $1,194,000,000, or 48 per cent, at the 1913 valuation of the dollar; Canada's by $142,000,000, or 48 per cent, and Japan's by $241,000,000, or 109 per cent. Although our quantity gain was twice that of Canada and three times that of Japan, their advance at the present rate of growth is a fact that should not escape attention.

Western Europe Does Better.

The most significant general increase in export trade during the year was that of the twelve nations of western Europe. The aggregate export of these nations for 1928 was $9,670,000,000. This was 95 1/2 per cent of the export trade they carried on in 1913, when it was valued at $10,140,000,000. The aggregate export of the 1913 value of the dollar. Germany's rapid progress has brought her up to within 87 per cent of her 1913 level exports. Great Britain is 95 per cent, and Belgium up to 56 per cent. All the other nations of western Europe are doing more export trade than they did before the war.

The complete figures for ninety-one nations show that the world's export trade for 1928 has continued to make substantial gains over preceding years. Roughly, the gains amounted to about $900,000,000 in Asia and 50 millions in South America and 80 millions in Africa. These were offset by diminished exports during the year of about 60 millions in Asia and 50 millions in Central America. With a slight gain in Eastern Europe and Australasia the net gain for the year of a little less than 700 millions at 1913 valuation is worth about one billion dollars at the 1928 value of the dollar.

Generally speaking, the gain record of 1928 has been accelerated during 1929 and it is likely that the rate of increase will be greater this year than last.

Traylor Gives Europe's View on U. S. Stocks

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BADEN RADEN, Germany, Nov. 10.—An interview today, Mr. A. Traylor of Chicago, one of the American delegates to the organization committee of the international bank for reparations provided by the Young plan, gives Traylor his reactions obtained from informal conversations with representatives of other powers participating in the conference concerning the recent series of Wall street crashes.

"Making any suggestions of reform for financial operations in the United States based on the practices in Europe is a hazardous matter because the age old customs and habits of the European people are bound by traditions and the American people are younger and have not inherited any traditions or built up any precedents and have always been willing to explore new fields and try new methods," he said.

Need Sound Thinking.

"The experience of the last few weeks certainly emphasizes the necessity of sound thinking—first, to discover whether anything is inherently unsound in the American method of conducting our stock exchanges and perhaps the commodity exchanges, as well.

"This much seems clear—the market operations of the last two or three years have been based on a sound hypothesis there would not have been as complete a collapse as occurred.

"Whether a reform of stock exchange practices along the lines of European exchanges in making settlements on the average of about every two weeks will prevent such rash speculation as we just had, and likewise a demoralization as has occurred, is in my opinion, however, it will be a great contribution toward the stabilization not only of the price of securities but of interest rates, and even more important, as these two have become stabilized, so would also industrial property in general, and would escape the peaks and lows which do so much harm into the whole economic system.

Discusses Modifications.

"As far as I have talked with bankers on this side, I have heard no doubts expressed by any one that the adoption of periodic settlements, perhaps in some modified form, of the practices in use on this side, would be a great benefit to American business and finance.

"They point out, correctly, I think, that as long as the American money market is really made by a day to day rate of call loans on the stock exchange, no banking system can possibly stabilize its rates on the basis of the ebb and flow of general business.

Will Be Temporary.

"Personally, I am hopeful that whatever depression follows will be rather short lived and think it likely, as there is apparently no indication of commodity values, and with an abundance of credit business ought to be continued in a fairly satisfactory volume.

"If, however, we are lucky enough to come out of the storm without any great injury, that should not prevent those responsible for the management of the stock exchange from giving some consideration to such reforms, if any, as can be adopted to prevent a recurrence of the wholly unwarranted speculation which characterized the market for the last 18 months.

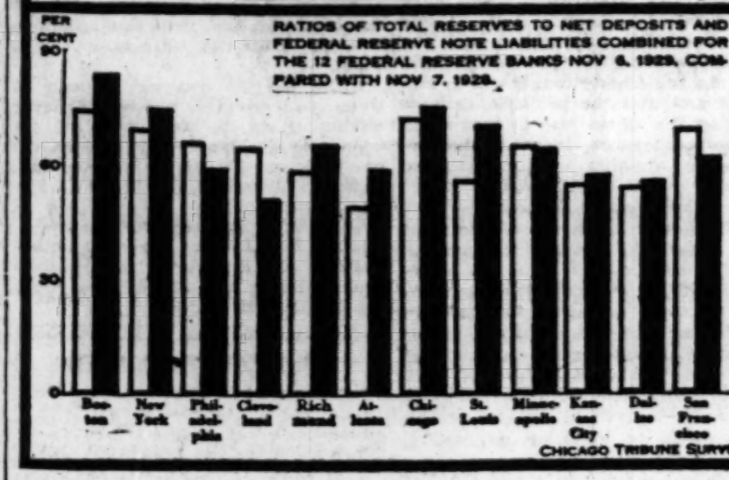

"There can be only one end to such performances, and that end is always more expensive than all the profits made from the heyday boom."

Report Big Welsh Coal Merger Is Now Assured

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 10.—The Welsh coal merger, already forecast, is now assured, it is learned, with 12 companies of South Wales, controlling the most valuable coal deposits in the world, employing 40,000 men, who arrived at a practical end in negotiations for the most important combine in the history of Welsh industrialism. The capital involved amounts to $50,000,000. The merger will control 60 pits, and so one of the biggest sales agencies in the coal industry will have been effected.

STANDARD OIL OF N. J. STOCK INCREASE SEEN AS EXPANSION MOVE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 10.—An expansion in the activities of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey (Delaware), the principal operating subsidiary of the Standard Oil company (of New Jersey) is seen in the increase of the company's capital from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000, of which a notice was filed on Saturday with the secretary of state of Delaware.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the New Jersey company, said tonight that the capital increase was an internal matter relating to the corporate structure of the Delaware unit and was undertaken in order to carry on business. The original capital of $200,000,000 provided upon incorporation of the Delaware company in August, 1927, is now insufficient for its needs, he said, explaining that the additional capital would be acquired by the parent company in exchange for working capital.

Increased Capitalization Is Seen

The increased capitalization is seen as an enlargement of the plan where, by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey segregated its operating interests two years ago. The Delaware organization took over the refining and marketing business of the Standard Oil company (of New Jersey), together with the stock of the Carter Oil company, Transcontinental Petroleum Company of Mexico, Tuleora Oil Company, Ltd., and Oklahoma Pipe Line company.

No public financing will result from the new expansion of this company, Mr. Teagle said, adding that no acquisitions of additional properties were contemplated. The Delaware unit carries on producing, refining and marketing operations in many states, as well as in foreign countries.

Columbian Carbon Makes New Stock Acquisitions

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 10.—Holdings of stocks in other companies of the Columbia Carbon company have been greatly increased recently, it was disclosed in listing on the New York stock exchange additional shares necessary for an offering made to stockholders of record Oct. 18. The company has acquired for cash 111,492 shares in the Mississippi River Fuel corporation and 1,026 shares in the Federal Fuel company, and its holdings in Interstate Natural Gas Co., Inc., has been increased by 41,897 shares, by a recent 3-1/4 stock dividend.

Says Kraft Phenix Corp. Earnings Will Double 1928

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

J. L. Kraft, chairman of the Kraft Phenix Cheese corporation, in a letter to stockholders, says: "We are in a position to assure Kraft-Phenix stockholders that net earnings of the company this year will be at least double those of last year."

BANK SAVINGS SHRINK; BLAME STOCK MARKET

Report First Recession in 20 Years.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 10.—The first recession in the nation's savings account in banks in the twenty years during which records in this field have been kept by the American Bankers' association is disclosed in the annual compilation of savings by the organization's savings bank division. The shrinkage amounts to over $195,000,000, on the basis of figures for the year ending June 30, 1929, whereas a year ago the similar report announced an increase of over $2,300,000,000, the largest ever recorded.

The number of savings depositors also decreased during the year covered by more than 500,000 accounts. The volume of the stock market and affiliated activities are cited as part of the explanation for these changes. The volume stands at $28,217,656,000, with an additional $43,834,000 for Hawaii.

Factory Pay Rolls Higher.

"This recession is not one coming as a result of drought, famine, unemployment or conditions outside of the United States," the review continues. "This year industrial production was much higher than the preceding year, and the decrease over the preceding year was so slight that no material effect on the saving business should be observable.

"The causes of the recession are possibly multiple. In the mass movement it is difficult to evaluate all the factors. There is nothing to indicate a considerable increase in installment buying during the year. There is scarcely any reason to doubt that one of the important factors in draining away savings deposits and decreasing the number of depositors has been the lure of profits to be made in stocks.

No Cause for Alarm.

"The loss in savings deposits during this one year after a rapid rise for fifteen years should not cause undue alarm. The savings deposits for the year are $135, which is but $2 less than the preceding year and represents a loss of but 2-1/2 of one per cent. The volume of savings stands at $9.5 per cent over the volume in 1918, and 144 per cent gain over the volume in 1914."

Owens-Illinois Glass Co. Reports 9 Months' Profit

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Net earnings of the Owens-Illinois Glass company and subsidiaries for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were $3,705,925. Gross income was $8,027,463. The Sept. 30 statement shows current assets of $13,704,335 and current liabilities of $2,698,523.

Cites Reason Why Steam Power Is More Adaptable

BY SCRUTATOR.

Some reasons why steam generation of electricity has been pushed along in the United States while hydro developments are beginning to lag are furnished by the National Electric Light association.

Because of a long continued period of drought, the association states, the steam plants were compelled since Jan. 1 to produce three billion kilowatt hours more than they would have produced had this year's rainfall and stream flow equaled that of 1928. Averaging the coal burned for each kilowatt hour at a pound and three quarters, the statisticians estimate that the additional fuel purchases of the steam driven plants so far this year have been 2,600,000 tons.

In September, the hydro-produced power was only 31 per cent of the whole, the lowest ratio that has been noted since October, 1925. Last May, 43 per cent of the electrical power was from falling water and in September, 1928, the ratio was 38 per cent. Total production of September hydro supplies was up 12 per cent from 1928.

Big Gain Shown.

Getting at the figures from another standpoint, the association finds that the first nine months of this year water power, even with the new plants that went in, increased but six-tenths of one per cent over the similar period in 1928. On the other hand, the increase in the production of steam generated electricity in the same period was 19 per cent.

Herein lies one of the great objections to the building of hydro plants. Water supplies can hardly ever be counted on. Our weather records run back little more than a half century. We do not know how dry the streams may become. Recently there appeared a story concerning a lake in the Rocky mountains which completely dried out.

Capital Must Earn Way.

Under usual circumstances, it requires less money to construct a steam plant than to build a hydro plant. With the continued increase in the efficiency of the steam engine, it is becoming apparent that many instances that the operating costs for steam are reaching the point where little more hydro development can be economically justified in the United States, the interest on investment being quite important in the latter type of production.

Money Once Invested in Capital

goods must earn its way out. To build huge dams for water power purposes means speculating that there will be no change, or little change, in other kinds of power production in many decades.

The steam plant is more adaptable and it is virtually certain that the future will see further increases in steam efficiency. It may be that the hydro plant is one of those things that are built for too far in the future.

MARKET ACTION EVIDENCE THAT STORM IS OVER

But Recovery Is Always Slow.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Nov. 10.—Reversion of Friday's stock market after Thursday's moderate recovery from its obsessive decline to narrow variations in prices and a business of only normal magnitude was reasonably good evidence that the crisis is at an end. This does not mean that a rising market is necessarily ahead of us. It leaves resumption of Wall street "bull movements" as a remotely distant possibility, as they could have seemed on Oct. 12. The traditional habit of the stock market at such junctures is to move with extreme rapidity and violence in the direction of a correction of its condition, then to lapse into lethargy while awaiting the next turn of events.

Recovery after the first brief resumption is always slow. For one thing it is never clear during a considerable lapse of time that sale of "distress stocks" taken over in the crisis has been completed. Only the course of time will show whether trade has actually been affected and how greatly.

Notwithstanding the depths to which stock exchange prices plunged on several consecutive days, as Dec. 12 of 1920 and Oct. 24 of 1907, the record shows a long list of industrial shares which sold in 1911 below the worst prices of 1929 and a dozen important railway shares which in 1928 were under the previous year's lowest.

Conditions Are Improved.

It is quite true, on the other hand, that the stock market crash of those two years itself resulted from a dangerously overvalued trade, which is hardly true today, and that industrial reaction was cause rather than consequence of events on the stock exchange.

But even in the early periods of reaction

(perhaps excepting 1921) it was only gradually discovered what was wrong with trade. The prospect will not be altogether clear on this occasion for some little time to come. The community perfectly understands the root points discernible in the present position of general trade in the last six years. It cannot yet know surely how far in some great industries the rash use of credit from which producers carefully abstained was practiced by consumers. Statistics of current industry will be watched with interest.
